

Apollo Moon Flight Receives Green Light

Crew Prepares For July 16 Lunar Blast-Off

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Apollo 11 flight has a green light for a moon landing attempt in July. The question now is: Will the crew be ready?

Neil A. Armstrong, civilian commander of the flight, and his crewmates, Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins, face a heavy training program to prepare them fully for the scheduled July 16 blast-off.

Armstrong is scheduled to be the first to set foot on the moon July 21. He is to be joined by Aldrin 27 minutes later.

Ahead of the three are hours in mission simulations, briefings, reviews and run-throughs.

"They'll work for more than 12 hours on many days between now and launch in the mission simulators, familiarizing themselves with the equipment and practicing responses to possible emergencies."

Tough Job Ahead
"We've got a tough job getting ready," said Donald K. Slayton, chief of astronauts. "We won't need very many glitches (unexpected problems) to not be ready."

Slayton said that even a simulator "bombing out on your for two days in a row" could delay the launch.

Space officials said privately Armstrong was pushing hard to meet the launch date.

He was irritated by the slowness of some mission planners, a source said, and brought pressure for faster action.

One of the delayed blueprints was said to concern the television camera on the Apollo 11 command module, the mother ship which stays in orbit 69 miles above the moon while the lunar lander descends to the surface.

Armstrong made a formal proposal that the television camera be removed from the spaceship. His logic, a source said, was that he had received no plan for its operation and if it wasn't vital enough to have a plan, then it was unnecessary to take the camera.

TV Plan

"He wasn't really trying to get rid of the camera," a source said. "He was just trying to force out a plan for its use."

Armstrong got his plan in short order.

Slayton said the final decision on whether the crew is ready will rest with Armstrong. And, Slayton said, if the civilian astronaut says the crew isn't ready, "then we'll just tell them (the space program administrators) that we won't go."

Officials are concerned that the Apollo 11 fliers may have to work so hard they'll miss the final three weeks of comparative rest which flight surgeons have urged for space crews.

In his announcement Thursday that July 16 was the target date for launching, Lt. Gen. Sam C. Phillips, Apollo space program director, was careful to leave the door open for a delay.

Withdrawal

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command said today two brigades of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division and a regimental landing team of the 3rd U.S. Marine Division will be withdrawn from South Vietnam by the end of August and replaced by South Vietnamese soldiers.

ANTI ANTI-BALLISTIC MISSILE SYSTEM — Two of 13 Nobel Prize scientists opposed to President Nixon's proposed Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system face reporters in Washington. They are George W. Rathjens (left), director of the Weapons Systems Evaluation Division of the Institute for Defense Analysis in the Johnson administration, and Dr. Herbert York, a Defense Department science adviser during the Eisenhower administration. The scientists doubt Safeguard would work as planned, and think it would lessen rather than increase security of the United States.

Neutral Senator For ABM Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senator whose uncommitted stance on the Safeguard controversy makes him a key figure in the fate of the program, says he is impressed with a compromise proposal to delay ABM deployment.

Dodd Seeking Third Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, still arguing his case, is determined to seek a third term in the Senate which censured him for financial misconduct two years ago.

A spokesman for the Connecticut Democrat said Dodd has not wavered in the decision he announced after the Senate marked him with the censure invoked upon only five other senators in American history.

Dodd said then he would seek vindication from the voters by running for re-election in 1970.

"He's repeated that decision many times," a spokesman said Thursday.

Dodd will encounter no lack of opposition.

At least two Democrats are expected to challenge him for renomination.

And a party strategist said if Dodd overcame the burden of censure to win the Democratic nomination, he would stand little chance against a Republican in the general election.

Black Coalition Backs Austin

DETROIT (AP) — Black policemen and firemen have declared their "political independence" from the Detroit police and firemen's organizations and endorsed Richard Austin for mayor.

A coalition of black policemen and firemen, with at least 50 members, met Wednesday and accused the Detroit Police Officers Association (DPOA) and the Detroit Fire Fighters Association (DFFA) of political activities with "racial overtones, bigoted endorsements and the promotion of reactionary politicians."

Their candidate, Austin, is a member of the Wayne County Board of Auditors and Detroit's first major black candidate for mayor.

Spokesmen for the black coalition, Patrolman Ron Turner and Fireman Robert Butler, said the blacks were still dues-paying members of the DPOA and DFFA but they wanted to disassociate themselves from those two groups, which they said tended "to create civil unrest dangerous to the welfare of the city of Detroit."

Ruppe Speaker

DETROIT (AP)—Rep. Philip Ruppe, R-Mich., will be the guest speaker at the 194th Anniversary and Awards Ceremony of the Army Corps of Engineers. Ruppe's district — the Upper Peninsula and the northernmost part of the Lower Peninsula — contains the engineers' most important project in the state, the Soo Locks.

Soviets Pledge To Support Any Arab Settlement

CAIRO (AP) — Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has assured President Gamal Abdel Nasser the Soviet Union won't agree to any settlement in the Middle East the Arabs won't accept, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram reported today.

The Soviet minister also pledged continued support for the Arab demand for Israeli withdrawal from all territories occupied in the June 1967 war, the paper said.

Al Ahram's report was the first significant report locally of Gromyko's activities since he arrived Tuesday to talk with Nasser.

Gromyko is believed to be sounding out Nasser on a package deal reportedly proposed by U.S. officials at the Big Four talks in New York and in talks with Soviet officials in Washington.

Some reports say the U.S. proposal includes territorial concessions to Israel including the Arab quarter of Jerusalem and Syria's Golan Heights. Al Ahram said any such concessions would be rejected out of hand. However, the Soviet Union and the Arabs are expected to abandon their earlier conception of a "phased settlement."

Israeli withdrawal first and then the Arabs would make concessions—and to agree to other points in the U.S. plan. These points reportedly satisfy Israel's demand for peace and security under terms of the November 1967 U.N. resolution that is being used as a basis for a settlement.

Egyptian sources said Gromyko conferred at least twice Thursday with Moscow by telephone. The sources took this to mean his talks with the Egyptians had reached a critical stage requiring referral to the Kremlin.

Northwest Pilots Reach Settlement

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A settlement was reached this morning in the dispute between Northwest Airlines and its 1,600 pilots, after a six-hour strike that began at midnight.

Ted Lieber, local representative of the Airlines Pilots Association, said the agreement was reached after bargaining sessions that lasted through the night.

Lawmakers Ask Slaying Probe

LANSING (AP)—The murder of a sixth young woman in the Ann Arbor area has prompted two state representatives to ask for a special legislative investigation of the killings.

Reps. Thomas Guastello, D-Utica, and Edgar Geerlings, R-Muskegon, proposed a special four-man House committee conduct the probe.

They suggested Reps. Hal Ziegler, R-Jackson, and Joseph Snyder, D-St. Clair Shores, also serve on the committee.

The two representatives further proposed that the Legislature offer a reward of $10,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer.

Because the resolution contains the reward proposal, it was sent to the House Appropriations Committee for study.

"We and all the citizens of this state are horrified by these tragic and brutal murders," Guastello and Geerlings said in a joint statement.

"These savage killings cannot be permitted to continue. We must use all resources available to find the killer or killers."

Boy, 4, 'Critical' After Fire Rescue

An Escanaba boy, 4, rescued from his burning home Thursday afternoon, continues in critical condition at St. Francis Hospital today.

He is Thomas (Tommy) Mayville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mayville of 319 N. 15th St. who is suffering from smoke inhalation and minor burns. He is reported as not responding to treatment.

The boy was saved by George L. LaFave, 30, of 619 N. 20th St., husky manager of the Escanaba Hawks Hockey team.

Was In Bedroom
LaFave said he and a friend had just left the Sav-Mor Foodliner at 1st Ave. N. and 15th St., only a short distance from the Mayville home, when they saw the smoke from the fire.

"There was a woman standing outside yelling 'There's a baby in there, there's a baby in there!'" he said.

Firemen said that Mrs. Mayville was hysterical when they arrived and that they entered the house, wearing smoke masks, in an effort to find the child. Meanwhile Mrs. Mayville told LaFave the boy was in a back bedroom, firemen reported.

LaFave broke the bedroom window and entered the room but the smoke and heat drove him back. When he came out he said he knew where the boy was and Fireman Kenneth Lusardi gave him his smoke mask.

'Felt Like Doll'

Crawling around on his hands and knees in the house, LaFave said he felt a hand.

"It felt like a doll," he said, "but I pulled on it."

LaFave found a window and passed the boy out into the arms of Fireman Lusardi. The child received mouth to mouth resuscitation followed by application of a pneumatic and oxygen as he was rushed to St. Francis Hospital by ambulance.

Mrs. Beebe spoke on the measure for the first time Thursday after hours of tumultuous debate in which proponents charged opponents with trying to kill the bill and opponents flung countercharges of being "gagged."

A somber silence fell as Mrs. Beebe told of her operation some 20 years ago.

"I had a therapeutic abortion performed in a Roman Catholic hospital by a Roman Catholic doctor with the Mother Superior standing nearby," said Mrs. Beebe, an Episcopalian. "Don't think I didn't come face-to-face with my conscience."

Woman's Decision
"There is no 'easy abortion law,'" she said, using the tag hung on the bill by opponents. "Women must make their decisions—difficult decisions."

Applause broke the silence as Mrs. Beebe, wiping away tears, took her seat.

Sen. John Toeppe, R-Cadillac, who opposed the bill, lauded Mrs. Beebe for her speech and called any subsequent decision "an excruciating one."

Opponents argued that liberalizing the current law—which allows abortion only when the mother's life is in danger—would put the state on record as "tolerating a small amount of murder."

"God help our country and state if we do what Nazi Germany did," said Sen. James Fleming, R-Jackson, who led opposition to the bill.

Fleming earlier had offered a series of amendments bill supporters said would "emasculate" their proposal. He also cited U.S. and State Supreme Court rulings on "rights of the unborn."

"Only God can give life—only God can take away life," said Sen. Charles Youngblood, D-Detroit.

House Accepts Senate Version Of Recreation

LANSING (AP)—Under pressure to pass or kill more than 100 bills by midnight, the Michigan House has agreed to scrap its own legislation to allocate the controversial $100-million recreation bond.

Instead, the lower chamber is expected to begin work next week on a version, passed earlier by the Senate, that proposes to steer $60 million to community-oriented recreation projects. That action, achieved with bipartisan support, spelled victory for Gov. William G. Milliken's previous recommendations.

"We will have a chance to vote on the true, 70-30 bill," vowed Rep. Warren Goemaere, D-Roseville, co-chairman of the House Conservation Committee.

Milliken recommended in April a spending formula to grant $40 million to the Natural Resources Department for state projects, then divide the remaining $60 million into equal sums: half to six regional districts on a per capita basis for approved community projects; and half to counties of more than 100,000 population for additional projects.

The proposal touched off immediate opposition, as politicians and conservation groups claimed voters had been promised $70 million would go to the Natural Resources Department and only $30 million to local projects.

The Senate measure, redrafted to conform closely to a plan worked out in the House conservation committee, cleared the way for interchamber compromise.

"We'll work out our differences," said Rep. Thomas Anderson, D-Southgate, co-chairman with Goemaere of the House committee. "Maybe we can settle it before we vote over here."

S. Korean Trap Sinks Spy Boat

SEOUL (AP) — South Korean forces sprang a trap on a North Korean spy boat this morning, sank the boat and killed all 15 men aboard, South Korea's Central Intelligence Agency announced.

The agency said the high-speed patrol boat had been dispatched to pick a North Korean agent on Hukans Island, off the southwest coast. But the agent, Kim Yong-ki, had been captured by the South Koreans May 30, and a trap was set around the island, the intelligence agency said.

When the enemy patrol boat approached the island in the guise of a cargo-fishing vessel shortly before midnight Thursday, a combined army, navy and air task force was ready for it.

Forcing Kim to maintain radio contact with the craft, the South Korean force waited until the Communists were about to put a three-man team aboard a rubber raft to pick up Kim on the island. Then the air force lit the area with flares, and the south Koreans opened fire.

The intelligence agency said the enemy tried for six hours to fight their way out of the ambush, but all 15 were killed and the boat was sunk. Two bodies were reported recovered, and efforts were under way to raise the spy boat.

There were no South Korean casualties, the agency said.

Racial Struggle At San Quentin

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Warden Nelson blames a "Ku Klux mentality" on both sides for a Negro-white racial feud that has cost the lives of four inmates this year at San Quentin prison.

"The vast majority of the inmates want no part of it," he said Thursday in ordering most convicts locked in their cells through the weekend after seven whites were stabbed, one fatally. Three Negroes were killed earlier.

Nelson said there was a continuing struggle between 200 to 300 militants of both races.

San Quentin has about 3,600 inmates, 30 per cent of them Negro, 53 per cent white and 17 per cent Latin American and other minorities.

Nelson said that Wednesday's seven white victims were chosen "for the simple reason that they were white—targets of opportunity."

"We are walking a tightrope," Nelson said. "This could well blow up into a full scale war which would leave many men lying out on the ground."

Cities Share Experience:

Fund Success Keyed To 'Grantsmanship'

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Problems of public housing, downtown parking, labor negotiations, and how to obtain federal funds with the least possible red tape and frustration were discussed by managers of four major Upper Peninsula cities Thursday at the regional meeting of the Michigan Municipal League.

While there are no instruction books on the subject of "grantsmanship" as Marquette City Manager Thomas R. McNabb terms it, a knowledgeable community can get more state and federal aid if it knows how to proceed.

Cities should avail themselves of such funds to keep the burden off the local taxpayers in meeting the costs of state and federal programs, said McNabb.

"I say get in line if there is money to be had," he told the approximately 100 municipal officials attending the League sessions at the Terrace.

Outline Procedures

McNabb described Marquette's experience in obtaining state and federal funds for sewer and water extensions, for public housing, and presently for recreation facilities and harbor work.

On the subject of "grantsmanship" McNabb advised the city representatives to:

1 - Be sure to fill out all of the required forms properly. "It's a pain in the neck but it must be done the best you can do it."

2 - Realize there is a shifting emphasis on funding and presently it is to create jobs. "For every $10,000 you receive in federal funds you must prove up one job."

3 - Downtown renewal is "out" right now but residential redevelopment is the latest in urban renewal.

4 - Put one man in charge. He will have all the answers in expediting applications.

5 - "Unless your project application is really bogged down and you need help to break it loose," don't call on the "politicians" for help.

Favor Direct Grants

McNabb's experience has led him to the personal belief that the whole program of assistance to cities should be scrapped for "direct grants to cities on a population basis."

"The cities then could decide for themselves what best use they would make of the money, for the need of each city is different in priority than those of another. This is a personal theory of mine and I think the money would go a lot farther," McNabb said.

Other city managers and their topics in the "problem forum" were George M. Harvey, Escanaba, who discussed downtown parking; Kenneth E. Long, Ironwood, labor negotiations; and Richard L. Larsen, Sault Ste. Marie, senior citizen and low income housing.

Harvey reported on the success of Escanaba's cooperative downtown public parking development, with the cost of the $108,000 project shared by the city and the owners of commercial property and tenants in the area of benefit. There are only three delinquents among the private contributors.

Employees Strike

The plan was recommended by a committee representing the business interests of the downtown section and the lot is being fully utilized, Harvey said. The participation should be on an assessment basis and if there is failure to pay, the delinquency can go on the tax roll, he suggested.

Ironwood's City Manager Long, reporting on labor negotiations, said his city has the dubious distinction of being the only city in the U.P. whose employees have gone on strike.

Long detailed the factors and traced the failure of mediation and arbitration that resulted in the walk-out of the city's public works crew. Water and sewage systems were kept operating by agreement.

Settlement was arrived at by court approval and the cost to the city was about $1,400 and the men lost about $3,200 in wages, said Long. "This year we've settled with public works but there's disagreement with the police and firemen," he reported.

Sad Experience

The problems attending housing for persons of low income as distinguished from the success of housing for senior citizens was told by Sault Ste. Marie City Manager Larsen.

The Sault has had "sad experience" with low income housing, with problems of policing, control and maintenance — although the housing is of a quality "better than those people have had in the past," he reported.

"One family moved into a duplex and in one month the doors had to be replaced and the walls had holes in them that had to be fixed."

"These people need more than just placing them in homes. They need to be taught how to live in them," said Larsen.

Senior citizen housing, however, is a story of success and satisfaction, he continued. Tenants take pride in the places they live, maintain and beautify them and the grounds; and a second high rise apartment building is being planned in the Sault.

Marquette Prison
Camp To Reopen

MARQUETTE (AP) — The Marquette Prison honor camp, closed since 1964, will be reopened in two weeks because of an increase in the number of inmates in Lower Michigan penal institutions, it was reported today.

Warden Raymond J. Buchko said he has been instructed by Michigan Corrections Director Gus Harrison to make the camp ready for at least 48 inmates, who are prison trustees.

Buchko said that in the last year the number of inmates in Michigan's corrections system increased by more than 1,000, with new inmates being committed at the rate of 100 to 120 per week—a gain of 30 to 40 over last year. The increase this year could total between 1,500 and 2,000, he said.

Flood Mine In C&H Shutdown

CALUMET — Calumet & Hecla, Inc., is permitting its Osceola mine to flood, another step in the shutdown of its operations in Upper Michigan's Copper Country.

Universal Oil Products Co., parent firm of the Calumet & Hecla division, had announced in April that it was ending operations because of a prolonged strike by steelworkers local 4312. The strike started last Aug. '21.

Pumping has been stopped in the two Osceola shafts that were being worked before the strike began. With the pumping ended, the lowest levels of the shafts are filling with water. The division's Kingston shaft and two Centennial shafts are not yet being flooded.

Twelve gondolas and box-cars, brought in by the Soo Line this week, are being loaded with machinery which will be transferred to other Universal Oil Products operations.

The company also has notified the Calumet public school system that it soon will be unable to furnish heat to Washington junior high school and the senior high school. In the past, the company's boilers have supplied heat for the schools.

The number of Calumet & Hecla salaried employees is decreasing as the shutdown continues. A total of 147 of them had been notified earlier this month that they would lose their jobs within the next five months.

Prior to the strike, the firm had about 1,400 workers. The mining operation had been the backbone of the area's economy for more than 100 years.

Berro Found
Not Guilty

A jury deliberated five hours Thursday in District Court before finding Michael Berro, 1606 Washington Ave., Escanaba, innocent of running a red light.

The trial arose out of a motorbike-car collision that occurred on May 21, 1968.

Berro had been issued the ticket by city police for his part in the accident in which Mary K. Austad, 2200 3rd Ave. S., Escanaba, suffered severe injuries of the left leg that required amputation at the knee.

Berro was operating the motorbike when the accident happened, city police reported. Miss Austad was a passenger on Berro's bike.

The accident occurred when Berro, traveling north on Washington Ave., collided with a car driven by Mrs. Robert Carlson, 43, of 1306 Stephenson Ave. The Carlson vehicle was going east on 12th Ave., when the two hit at the intersection.

Berro suffered a broken ankle and multiple skin lacerations at the time of the accident. Mrs. Carlson was not injured.

Boys 'Mother' Baby Mallard's

By BOB GREGG

Four baby mallard ducks were recently hatched at the Potter residence on 1205 1st Ave. S., Escanaba. The ducklings were hatched by their stand-in fathers, Jim Potter, Bill Lane and John Guindon. The boys found the eggs lying in a nest near a dead adult mallard on Sea Gull Island. The youths, seeing that the eggs were motherless, took them home and placed them under a warm lamp to see if the young ducklings would hatch.

"It took the whole group over nine hours to break through their shells," young Jim Potter said. "And it would have taken longer than that if we didn't help the last two," he added.

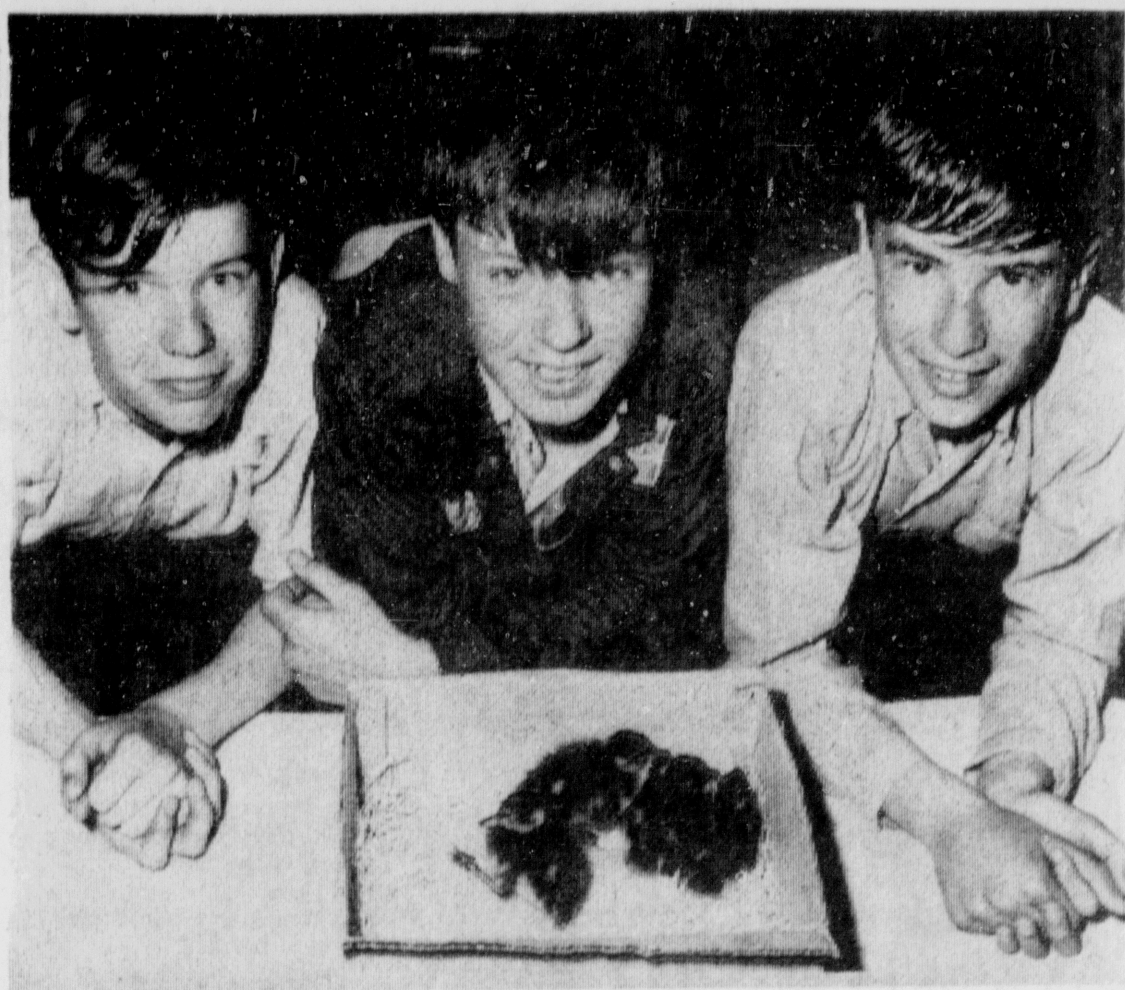

Josepa Vogt, game biologist for the Department of Natural Resources, told the Potter family that as soon as the ducks are well they should be released in Portage Marsh.

"They should be taken out there and released near another brood of mallards," Vogt said. "Mallards have a great tendency to adopt other ducklings, so the sooner the boys can get these ducks back in their natural setting the better off they'll be," explained Vogt.

"There is a state law against picking up wild animals of any kind, but under these special circumstances the boys can raise the ducklings until they are ready for release," said Robert Timmer, district law supervisor for the conservation department.

"We usually can't condone this," Timmer added. "It only creates a problem when people pick up small animals and take them home," he explained.

The Department of Natural Resources told the Daily Press that an officer would visit the Potter residence and remove the ducklings to Portage Marsh where they could be adopted by another mother mallard.

Storm Bounces Across State

By The Associated Press

Stout winds and rains battered Michigan Thursday, leaving at least two motorists dead, six youths missing in a boat off Saginaw Bay and six persons injured when their trailers were overturned by what police said were tornadoes.

Electrical service was lost to at least 25,000 customers as the storm bounced across Lower Michigan, from the southwest to the northeast.

Heavy wind damage also was reported across the state, with reports from sheriff's deputies that cars were blown off the expressway at Pinconning.

Saginaw County Sheriff's Office said Lawrence Clapp, 56, of Merrill, was killed Thursday afternoon when a farm tractor on which he was riding was blown over by a gust of wind. He was pinned under the trailer.

Authorities said William McQueen, 34, of Scio, N.Y., was killed on I 75 10 miles south of the Mackinac Bridge when his car struck a sign during a heavy rainstorm.

Police said they believed he was trying to follow a white line at the side of the road and lost sight of it.

The accident occurred where the line turned off into a rest area.

Five people were injured, none seriously, when a small tornado demolished a trailer at Centreville, the St. Joseph County Sheriff's Office reported.

Three of the injured were hospitalized. They were identified as Jesse Modert, 70; Glena Modert, 53, and Reba Modert, 62. Deputies said Rebecca Neil, 25, and Charles Lamvers were treated and released.

State Police said they had an unconfirmed report a tornado struck at Insley Township in Newaygo County, damaging up to four trailers. Edward Waldron, 12, was cut on his head when a television set fell off the refrigerator.

Members of the Apollo 8 moon crew traveled 24,696 miles per hour, faster than man has ever flown before.

Treat Total Personality, Columnist Urges Dentists

By DAVE ANDREWS

Dr. George W. Crane, physician, psychologist and nationally-known columnist, is a practical man.

After 34 years of writing the syndicated column "The Worry Clinic" for newspapers all over the country, he knows some of the problems of society.

He also knows many of the answers and speaking before the Upper Peninsula Dental Society today offered some practical advice.

There is more to treating a patient than drilling a tooth or operating on an appendix, he said.

"Treat the total personality,"

Crane, who was a professor of psychology at Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., said in an interview that he realized in the early 1930s that problems "above and below the neck" were interrelated and so he went back to the Northwestern University Medical School while teaching at night to earn his M.D. degree.

Column Is Born

He said he was teaching at George Washington University when he got the idea of writing a newspaper column.

"I got many questions from people," he said, "and I figured why should people have to go to college to get the answers."

And so the column was born. Initially, he said, he deliberately needed people — especially fat wives — to get them to write "red hot letters" to the newspapers. Now, he says, the column generates about 1,000 letters per day of which he handles about three per cent.

The remaining letters, he said, are sorted into subject areas and the writers generally mailed one of about 50 advice pamphlets he has written covering various subjects from diet to sex problems in marriage.

Problems Same

The basic problems in our society haven't changed, he said, but the biggest percentage of his mail today concerns parent-child problems — education, school dropouts, hippies, drugs and promiscuity. "More parents are disturbed over these problems now," he said.

Crane also said that about 60 per cent of his mail comes from women as the average male expects his wife to handle the child-rearing problems.

In urging dentists and doctors to "treat the total personality," Crane said treating the tooth or an organ often is not sufficient.

"There may be nothing wrong with the tooth organically, but the patient can still have pain," he pointed out. "Sometimes a little personal advice will make the difference."

Insist On Hospital

Crane said that about 85 per cent of the patients who go to see doctors will get well no matter what the doctors do, but because of the glamorization of hospitals — due in part of the Ben Casey and Dr. Killdare television series — many of these people insist on going to the hospital.

He said that this insistence on hospital care is one of the major differences between dental and medical care. The emphasis on the institution, ignores the man doing the treatment.

The Dental Society convention will continue Saturday with Dr. Robert Thornton of San Jose, Calif., speaking at 9 a.m. on "Endodontic Management of the Immature Root" and Attorney Arthur Kleinstein and Harry Piper, CPA, discussing "The Advantages of Professional Incorporation" at 10:30.

The business meeting of the society is scheduled at 11:30 a.m. After an afternoon of golf at Gladstone, the convention will conclude with a banquet at 8 p.m. at the House of Ludington.

Bert Bennett Dies Thursday

Bert W. Bennett, 83, of Rte. 1, Rapid River (North Delta) died at 4:30 p.m. Thursday at St. Francis Hospital where he had been a patient for two days.

He was born March 10, 1886 in Plainville, Minn., and was a retired agent and operator for the Soo Line Railway.

He is survived by his widow, Florence of North Delta; four daughters, Mrs. Forrest (Faye) Burnside of Winifred, Mont., Miss Mera Bennett of Trout Creek, Mrs. Arnold (Florence) McMillan of North Delta and Mrs. Gerino (Zoe) Passarelli of Burlington, N.J.; one son, Eugene of Taylor, Mich., 11 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Anderson Funeral Home from 4 to 9 p.m. today and complete funeral services will be conducted at 4 p.m. Saturday at the funeral home chapel. The Rev. Karl Hammar will officiate and burial will be in the Trenary Cemetery.

End Of The Line

A year ago, when the Chicago & North Western Railway Co. announced it would discontinue its passenger train from Green Bay, Wis., through Rhineland, Wis., and Ironwood to Ashland, Wis., because of dwindling fares and rising losses, the timer was set for the announcement that came Thursday.

This time it's the Peninsula "400" from Green Bay north through Marinette-Menominee and Escanaba to Ishpeming that will be discontinued, ending regular passenger service to all of the Upper Peninsula.

The people of northern Wisconsin protested the move by the C&NW a year ago and the people of the Upper Peninsula opposed discontinuation of Milwaukee Road passenger service to Houghton last winter, but both moves were permitted by the Interstate Commerce Commission and so will the elimination of the Peninsula "400" be permitted.

A question of economics is involved and the C&NW has the data to prove its losses of $255,570 in 1967, $259,816 in 1968 and $63,203 in the first three months of 1969 for operations from Green Bay to Ishpeming and back. Every passenger mile the North Western operates between the two communities costs the railroad $1.92.

In January, February and March, an average of only 6.87 passengers boarded the southbound train each morning in Escanaba, according to C&NW statistics. There were 3.54 passengers at Ishpeming and 8.71 at Marinette. Except for Powers and Menominee, average boardings at the other scheduled stops in the Upper Peninsula at Little Lake, Rock, Bark River and Stephenson didn't get up to a person per day.

The statistics on boardings and revenue make an impressive case for the North Western, yet the people of the Upper Peninsula and northern Wisconsin aren't totally to blame for abandoning the railroad.

The southbound train from Ishpeming to Chicago leaves Ishpeming at the unlikely hour of 4:30 a. m., arriving in Escanaba one hour later. The northbound train, leaving Chicago at 5:12 p. m. doesn't get to Escanaba until about 2:15 and Ishpeming until 3:15 a. m.

In the early 1960s, when business was better although still not spectacular, the "400" southbound left Ishpeming about 7:30 and Escanaba about 8:30. The northbound "streamliner" arrived in Escanaba at 12:58 and Ishpeming an hour later.

In addition, railroad depots have not been maintained, ticket offices are not open for passenger convenience and on-the-train services have been cut.

The situation for passenger service is not unlike the freight service on the Felch branch, which the C&NW has asked to abandon. The railroad says shippers aren't making enough use of the line to maintain it. Shippers contend they would use the line more often if service was provided.

Whether it's the fault of the railroad for letting its top position in the transportation industry slide downhill after World War II or whether the public has given up on railroads in favor of automobile and air transportation — more likely it's a combination of the two — it is fruitless to argue against discontinuation of the passenger train.

The C&NW presently runs only a single diesel unit and a single bi-level coach out of Green Bay to the Upper Peninsula. The crew is only four men. Costs already have been cut to a minimum and still the North Western loses money.

Economically, discontinuance of Train 214 is the only alternative for the railroad. It was only a matter of time before the Board of Directors decided it was tired of seeking a quarter of a million dollars in red ink annually on the Upper Peninsula trip.

Nevertheless, the loss of passenger train service is another blow to the transportation system of the central Upper Peninsula. The proposed bus service, which the C&NW will subsidize, will soften the blow, but the "400" will be missed.

The situation gives cause for the Upper Peninsula to strengthen its efforts at improving its other modes of transportation — primarily through better highways and improved air service — for once the train is gone, it will never return.

Peninsula Potpourri

A street renaming proposal in Sault Ste. Marie has been rejected by the City Commission because it would serve no purpose other than to confuse citizens and cost the city a substantial sum of money to implement.

Two Michigan Tech students were assessed $25 fines and $25 costs each by Calumet District Judge Bert M. Heideman on trespassing charges arising out of the disappearance of a chunk of copper weighing between 300 and 400 pounds from Calumet Division's Osceola mine. S. Randin Sandrick and Randall J. Riha, both 18, were arrested by state police. The two pleaded nolo contendere to a trespassing charge. Police said the piece of mass copper was recovered from Sandrick's car and that the youths were intending to use it for a souvenir.

The third busiest port of entry in Michigan is Sault Ste. Marie, home of the busy Soo Locks, yet not one cent of the $4,100,000 in U. S. customs duties collected in 1968 came from cargoes carried by passing ships. "Imports into the United States through our Sault office have increased almost five-fold in the last 10 years, yet very little if any of our revenue comes from cargoes discharged by ships passing by," Chester J. Kappelmann, deputy director in charge of the U. S. customs office in the Sault said. "The bulk of our imports come by train and truck." The Soo Locks handle nearly 100 million tons of cargo a year, much of it by ships of foreign registry, but Sault Ste. Marie is not a receiving or shipping port.

Lewis' Parting Advice To Labor: 'Organize'

Editor's note: Shortly before his 85th birthday, John L. Lewis granted this rare interview to Associated Press Labor Writer Neil Gilbride on condition that it not be published during his lifetime. After his retirement as United Mine Workers president in 1960, Lewis refused all offers to talk for publication or television, and this is a rare account of his views in recent years.

By NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The parting advice of John L. Lewis to the nation's labor movement was the same as when he began his legendary career at the dawn of this century: "Organize!"

"There are 30 million white collar workers and 30 million blue collar workers in this country, most of them unorganized. But nobody is doing it," the retired Mine Workers president told this interviewer.

Unions in modern times, he said, spend too much of their time raising each other for the same members.

Lewis said he feared that if labor didn't revive the organizing fervor of its early days, many of the evils of the past could return—low wages, social unrest, even child labor.

Criticizes AFL-CIO
Lewis criticized the AFL-CIO for expelling the giant Teamster Union on corruption charges in 1955, describing the Teamsters as one of the nation's most active unions.

"It is not the business of labor to expel sin, but to organize," growled the white-haired elder statesman of American labor.

But Lewis, who warred with other labor leaders, the coal industry, politicians and the White House during his 40-year career as Mine Workers president, held his peace publicly in latter years.

"He knows his heyday is past and he sees little value in getting into newspaper scraps with other labor leaders," said an aide.

Lewis for the last nine years of his life deliberately stayed out of the limelight, even declining to go to his union's conventions so as not to overshadow his protégé, Mine Workers President W. A. "Tony" Boyle. Aides said Lewis refused fabulous financial offers from magazines and book publishers to write his story.

Mood Varies
The interview took place in the comfortable club-like lounge on the 6th floor of the Mine Workers' solid, old headquarters building near the office where Lewis continued to handle union business almost to the day of his death.

His mood ranged from thoughtful, to emphatic, to humorous. His features still held that bulldog look of strength which for years had scowled from newspaper front pages in his many battles with the government and mine owners. His mind skipped easily from past to present to future and back again, showing no slowing of age. The only other person present was a Mine Workers aide.

Lewis was in a mellow mood, showing he had a mischievous streak and enjoying twitting his questioner.

Lewis rolled the big cigar around in his mouth and peered from under shaggy, snow-white brows with quizzical amusement, wondering, perhaps, what this 36-year-old young pup of a reporter could possibly know about labor.

Humanity Wants To Know
Would he talk for publication? "Not today," rumbled Lewis, and continued chewing the cigar.

Reporter's next salvo: "You've made a lot of labor history and you know where labor has been; where, in your opinion is labor going?"

Lewis: "Chuckles shaking his frame for a long minute — 'Young man, that's something all humanity wants to know. It's not just a question of where labor is going, but all of humanity and the world, in the light of the possibility of instant atomic catastrophe.'"

What did he think about receiving the Freedom Medal at the White House a few days earlier?

His head sunk on his chest and he seemed to take a deep, thoughtful look over his half century as one of the nation's most controversial and powerful labor leaders, then he broke into a wry smile.

"So they gave me a medal for doing all those things they fought me for doing all those years," he rumbled.

Did he voice that sentiment at the White House?

His smile widened. "They didn't ask the Freedom Medal recipients to make speeches, but I could have made a speech, couldn't I?" he chuckled.

Comments First

The Mine Workers at the time had just endorsed President Lyndon B. Johnson for his 1964 White House campaign against Sen. Barry Goldwater, and I asked: "Will you discuss the current political campaign?"

Lewis said he thought organized labor, particularly the AFL-CIO, was making a big mistake in throwing its money and support to Johnson or any presidential candidate without getting firm, prior commitments on what the candidate would do for labor.

And he thought labor should be wary of supporting congressional candidates, in view of what he considered antilabor legislation passed by Democratic-controlled congresses.

An aide later explained that Lewis was badly burned over political matters when the Mine Workers gave Franklin D. Roosevelt $500,000 for his presidential campaign in 1936, the union's first salary into national politics. He felt FDR later reneged on many of his promises to the Mine Workers.

Breaks With FDR
But a high union official tells another story about Lewis' bitter break with Roosevelt in 1940.

This source said the late labor leader Philip Murray told him of a visit Lewis and Murray made to the White House on a labor matter.

The official said that after the discussion on the labor matter, Murray reported that Lewis cleared his throat and told Roosevelt:

"Mr. President, I would like a place on the ticket," meaning he wanted to run as Roosevelt's vice presidential running mate against Republican Wendell Willkie.

According to the story, Roosevelt eyed Lewis sarcastically and said, "Oh, you want a place on the ticket, John? Just what place did you have in mind?"

Lewis, the informant said, rose and stalked out, and returned to the fold of the Republican party which he supported most of his life.

Other highlights of the conversation with Lewis:

Answers Questions

Q: What about labor's role in abolishing child labor; would you say if it had done nothing else, that would have justified the labor movement's efforts?

A: "I would say that is right. Legally, morally, ethically and in every other way, I would say that is right."

Q: The Mine Workers have had a lot of experience with automation; what is the solution to the displacement of men by machines?

A: Experience with automation? We invented it. Organizing the unorganized is the answer. Management has long used the tactic of persuading the man who comes to work in a white shirt and tie that he is a cut above the laboring man, but the argument is losing its impact to automation.

Q: In view of your opposition to labor's supporting either major party's candidates, do you think a Labor party, such as in Britain, would work in this country?

A: (After one of the long pauses in the conversation, looking ceilingward, squinting, then looking back at his questioner. No. Not now. The United States is unlike those homogenous, small European countries. Labor organization is very weak in some states, while it is strong in the big industrial states, so a labor party is not practical now as an effective, nationwide political force. Maybe someday; that's for the leaders of the future to determine.)

Q: What about the problems of unemployment?

A: I don't believe in training people for jobs that don't exist. The answer is widespread organizing.

Remembers Details

Lewis' mind ranged easily over past and present, and he had no trouble remembering some of the smallest details of the past. The reporter mentioned his own grandfather, an emigrant from Ireland, had mined coal in Pennsylvania in the early 1900s.

"In 1900?" Lewis said. "Let's see. I can tell you what the wage rate was then." After a pause, he said "The wage rate was 90 cents a day. Let your grandfather's memory never be tarnished."

Then, talking about his own days of working in coal mines, Lewis recalled that Mine Workers never made idle threats in a labor dispute.

"Our men didn't threaten to strike, they just struck," he said a policy often followed by the union today.

He recalled that, if union representatives got nowhere in processing a grievance, the men would strike.

"We would turn our water buckets upside down, or an empty thermos jug, and that meant 'We ain't working today,'" he said.

THEY WON'T FORGET

NEW DELHI (AP)—An elephant owned by a sadhu (Hindu holy man) caused authorities some anxious moments as it began to assert itself in a crowded market square, minus its master.

Police were frantically phoning the Fire Brigade and zoo officials, when the sadhu calmly returned, mounted the elephant and rode off.

Contract Bridge

By B. JAY BECKER

You are South, vulnerable against non-vulnerable opponents. East deals and bids Three Hearts. What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠KQ974 ♥A82 ♦Q73 ♣Q6
2. ♠AQ83 ♥74 ♦AKJ ♣KJ92
3. ♠965 ♥QJ854 ♦A82 ♣AK
4. ♠Q7 ♥K6 ♦AJ4 ♣AKQ86

1. Pass. Perhaps it might be best to first agree on the meanings of the various bids you can bid. Let's assume that the opener is making a nuisance bid with some such holding as seven hearts to the K-Q-10 and very little else on the side (which is the way most people play). His prime purpose is to make the going tough for you and your partner.

If you overcall in a new suit, that is where you are willing to play the hand. If you bid three notrump, you want to play it there. If you double, it is for takeout and you expect partner to bid, though he may of course pass when he thinks it best to play for penalties.

With this hand you pass. You simply don't have the values for three spades or any other bid, and therefore should not stick your neck out just to show how fearless you are. Silence is often golden.

2. Double. Naturally, you complete with this hand and the best way of showing your values is by a double. However, you must be careful about bidding again when partner responds in minimum terms, since he may have a very poor hand.

3. Pass. Of course, there is a great temptation to double, but, since partner would read this as commanding him to bid — which is exactly what you don't want him to do — it is more prudent to pass. The best strategy, by far, is to do absolutely nothing and hope partner will squeak out a double after the next player passes. If this happened (which is quite a lovely dream), you would of course pass.

It can be argued that the popular method of treating the double as takeout falls down when you have this type of hand. This is true, but you have to play the double one way or the other, and you must therefore expect whichever method of bidding you adopt to fail occasionally. You can't have your cake and eat it too.

4. Three notrump. With eight probable tricks against the expected heart lead, it is reasonable to hope that partner will make up the deficit. You don't double for takeout because you don't want partner to bid, and you don't bid four clubs because that would take you past three notrump.

Receives Gift For Indian Fund

LANSING (AP)—"Quite touching," said Sen. Charles Youngblood Jr., D-Detroit, in announcing he had received a $1 gift from a group of third grade youngsters to help Upper Peninsula Indians.

Youngblood said the donation came from 31 third grade students at the Henry Schoolcraft School of Waterford. The youngsters raised the money by selling candy.

The senator said he knows the $1 means more to the children "than thousands of dollars to some grownups."

The contribution will go to the Pequaming Service Foundation, a nonprofit group which has purchased some 900 acres of land near L'Anse, in Baraga County. It is hoped to develop the land with business and industry to help create jobs for Upper Peninsula Indians.

Man Borrows Coat After His Is Taken

Dear Ann Landers: Mac is no kid (past 30), so keep this in mind when you answer. We had dinner in a first class steak house Tuesday night. There was no checkroom, but the men hung their coats on hooks in the entrance way. Mac left his coat there. After dinner Mac's coat was gone. He went to the manager and was told that the cloakroom is a convenience and the management is not responsible. Mac was furious.

Last night I was surprised when Mac suggested we go back to the steak house for dinner. He didn't wear a coat, but on the way out he helped himself to a fine looking three-button number, which fit perfectly. I was shocked and said so. Mac's defense was as follows: "I'm not stealing. The owner of this coat will raise the roof, and the management will replace it. He won't be out anything. In the meantime, the joint owes me a coat."

Is Mac guilty of stealing?—Chagrined

Dear Chag: When a person takes something that doesn't belong to him, it's stealing, no matter what the rationalization. Mac is as big a thief as the bum who stole his coat and you can tell him I said so.

Dear Ann: A young bride-to-be just left my home. She was in tears. Her parents are divorced and it was one of the ugliest and messiest divorces that ever hit this town. The girl's blood father insists on the right to give her away at the wedding, but he is either unable to pay for the affair or refuses to do so. The girl's stepfather has a lot of money but he refuses to pay for a wedding in which the blood father gets the honor of giving the bride away. Can you come up with a solution to this agonizing dilemma?—A Friend

Dear Friend: How does the bride-to-be feel about her father? How does she feel about her stepfather? The selection should be based solely on sentiment. If she wants her blood father to give her away she should be willing to forego the lavish affair and settle for a simple ceremony—whatever he can afford. If the girl feels closer to her stepfather, he should have the honor. Her blood father should be an invited guest and he can accept or reject the invitation, as he chooses.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm bugged by something and I don't know who to ask. So, you're elected.

Dear Red: The watch is worn on the arm that is used less to diminish the chances for breakage. The doc chooses the watch arm when he gives a shot, for the same reason.

Some shots produce discomfort and semi-incapacitation for a few hours and it's logical to put the less active arm out of commission.

Dog Turns On Uniformed Master

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A uniform does make a difference. Ask the rookie patrolman from suburban Wyoming who wore his uniform home for the first time the other day.

His wife wanted a picture so they went to the back yard, where the patrolman's dog — not recognizing his master — attacked him. The officer had to use a canister of chemical spray to ward off the snarling animal.

Ex-Police Chief Under Arrest

ELKS RAPIDS (AP) — A former Elks Rapids police chief, Harold Dowling, has been charged with assault and battery and resisting arrest after being shot in both feet Wednesday. Dowling allegedly argued with city councilman Jerome Bradfield following a meeting in which Dowling was removed from his position.

People Of State Share Problems, League Is Told

By MARGARET ADAMS
John T. Dempsey, special assistant to urban affairs, office of Gov. William Milliken, told members of the Michigan Municipal League of the Upper Peninsula that unity for the State of Michigan is of prime importance.

Speaking at the League banquet Thursday evening at the Gladstone Yacht Club, he said urban areas face basically the same problems as those in the Upper Peninsula.

He said Gov. William Milliken is concerned with problems in all cities and is striving to seek not only unity between the Upper and Lower Peninsulas but between the southeastern sections and the remainder of the state.

"We must all hang together or we will hang separately," he said.

He noted that people from Northern Michigan move to industrialized sections of the state and their children therefore become part of the urban areas.

Dempsey urged the League to write their representatives in the Legislature, supporting their choice on current issues in a positive manner.

Legislators may not be able to solve our problems, but they will do the best they can, he said.

The toastmaster at the banquet was Mayor Henry Sweis, Ishpeming, who also introduced Dempsey.

In its business meeting the League went on record supporting the appointment of an Upper Peninsula man to the State Highway Commission; and to support the original 70-30 split on the state recreation bond issue.

In his talk Dempsey had said the bond revenue should be spent where the majority of the people reside, and this has been recommended by Gov. Milliken.

The League also supports the resolution by the City of Sault Ste. Marie for a return of revenue from the sale of tax reverted lands, to the area from which the revenue originated.

Marquette's resolution that all public utility taxes paid to the state be redistributed back to the cities on a per-capita basis was also supported.

Elected to Chapter 10 region official positions for the coming year were:

Lloyd Price, Marquette mayor pro-tem, Municipal League chairman; Al Wright, mayor of Ironwood, vice chairman; and G. Glenn Sands, city clerk of L'Anse, secretary.

Killed Returning From Graduation

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — James Daniel Brown, 38, of Grand Haven, was killed in a car accident Thursday night, as he and his family returned home after attending his daughter's graduation from high school.

His wife was critically injured. His daughter, Cindy, and two other passengers in his car and the driver of another car also were injured.

Milliken, who spoke to the banquet session of the Michigan Municipal League at Gladstone Thursday night. Pictured (from left) are Gladstone Mayor Arne Anderson, Dempsey, and Escanaba Mayor Cecil B. Habitant Fence Installs New Processing Complex Habitant Fence Division of Habitant Shops, Inc., with headquarters at Bay City, announces the installation and initial operation of a new "cedar processing complex" at its Gladstone plant.

Working with Mid-North Engineering Co., and Herbst & Sons of Escanaba, Habitant is completing the building and installation of a cedar processing complex entirely new to the fence manufacturing industry, said N. A. Eddy of Bay City, president of Habitant.

"We take our cedar raw material from the producers in the form most convenient to them, namely a mixture of diamers," he said "the processing of this material through our plant, however, requires that the material be sorted by sizes and so we have designed a large new piece of hydraulic equipment over which all yard posts will flow and be automatically separated and sorted by sizes.

"Once sorted, the stock will go to the second stage of the complex which will automatically double end trim the material to finished lengths and convey it to the peeling machine which in turn will pass it on as sized, trimmed and peeled stock," Eddy added.

Louis Dufour of Wells, Gladstone Plant general manager, said "The demand for Habitant quality fence this season has by far exceeded our ability to produce and deliver on schedule satisfactorily to our customers."

"We expect the addition of this new equipment to substantially speed up our sorting and processing of basic raw cedar posts and thus simplify and speed up the final factory operations. As we add more complicated machinery and equipment of this type, we are going to need more skilled men to operate it."

Sales Expand
Habitant officials further explained that while in some years past they did not accept cedar posts from the producers during the summer months, that manufacturing methods have now been changed and they are anxious to take deliveries of cedar every month of the year.

Expanded sales this spring have depleted raw material reserves, and Habitant is urging all producers to continue cutting through the summer and early fall months and will continue to accept all sizes of cedar whenever producers are able to deliver.

Ruppe, Dingell To Run Hearings

ANN ARBOR (AP) — U.S. Reps. John Dingell, D-Mich., and Philip Ruppe, R-Mich., will conduct hearings in Ann Arbor Friday to consider the establishment of a National Council on Environmental Quality. Dingell, who introduced a bill to establish the three-man board, will conduct the hearings as part of a study by the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. The hearings will begin at 10 a. m., at Towsley Medical Center.

Child's Welfare Club Luncheon

The Child's Welfare Club spring luncheon will be held at the Gladstone Golf Club Monday at 1:30 p.m. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Thomas Aas or Mrs. H. H. Von Blaskewicz, co-chairmen, by this evening.

Other members of the committee arranging the spring luncheon are Mrs. E. H. Noblet, Mrs. Phil Richel, Mrs. Gordon Kelley, Mrs. Wilbert Treichel, Mrs. Walter Erickson, Mrs. Leo Brassick, Mrs. Nino Green, Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mrs. Carl Haglund, Mrs. Rose Dufresne and Mrs. Glenn Nichols.

City Recreation Program To Start

The City-sponsored recreation program in Gladstone will begin summer activities Monday.

Hours at the recreation building will be from 9 to 11:45 a.m. and 1 to 4:30 p.m. with softball scheduled at night.

Lifeguards are working to cleanup the beach in preparation for the opening, which will be announced later.

7,000 Troops In Viet Sweep

SAIGON (AP) — Seven thousand allied troops are sweeping through the coastal plains of Central Vietnam in a drive to smash an enemy fortress only 10 miles south of Da Nang, the U.S. Command announced today.

In the three weeks since Operation Pipestone Canyon was launched, 332 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have been killed, 51 taken prisoner and 152 weapons captured, military spokesmen said.

The allied force includes 4,000 U.S. Marines, 2,000 South Vietnamese infantrymen and rangers and 1,000 South Korean Marines. The operation began May 25 but announcement of it was withheld until today for security reasons, the U.S. Command said.

On the allied side, U.S. Marine losses were put at 31 killed and 240 wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were one killed and 17 wounded. South Korean losses were two killed and 13 wounded.

U.S. Marines of the 1st and 5th Regiments have done most of the fighting and reported killing more than 200 of the enemy.

A Marine spokesman said the 25-square-mile area of operations—called "Dodge City" by the Marines because they've had to dodge so much enemy fire there—includes extensive bunkers and fortifications that house combat and support elements of several major enemy units.

Transfer Hoffa For Hearing

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, will be transferred temporarily from the federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa., to the Cook County Chicago Jail in a few days.

Sheriff Joseph I. Woods made the announcement today. Hoffa, serving an eight-year term for jury tampering in Nashville, Tenn., is being moved to Chicago for a July 7 hearing in U.S. District Court.

The hearing was ordered by the Supreme Court to determine whether any evidence used in Hoffa's 1964 fraud trial was obtained by the government through illegal electronic eavesdropping.

Judge Richard B. Austin will preside. He presided at a similar hearing in 1967 and ruled that none of the evidence which the government admitted had been obtained illegally was used in Hoffa's conviction.

Hoffa was convicted of fraud in 1964 and sentenced to five years in prison and fined $10,000.

Navy Helicopter Crashes Into Sea

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A big Navy helicopter with six men aboard crashed into the sea off San Diego today. Two bodies were recovered. Search was under way for possible survivors.

The crash scene was seven miles southwest of Point Loma. A Navy spokesman said at least one civilian was believed among the three passengers and three crewmen.

The copter, a UH2C Seasprite, was being flown on a medical evacuation mission from the aircraft carrier Constellation. It was stationed at Helicopter Support Squadron One at the Naval Air station in Imperial Beach.

The cause of the crash was not known.

Police Check Out Murder, Stabbing

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A man who stabbed and killed a woman in a Grand Rapids home Thursday night was charged with murder and a 33-year-old secretary whose partially clad body was found in a grassy field south of Grand Rapids earlier in the day.

The murder took place about 125 miles northwest of Ann Arbor, the site of six brutal slayings of young women in the last two years, the latest five days ago.

Washtenaw County sheriff's deputies, handling the Ann Arbor cases, have gone to Grand Rapids to check the possibility of connections between the slayings.

The Wyoming man, William Moritz, 25, was arraigned at midnight on an open charge of murder in the death of Donna Vivemary Gehring. Moritz was seen with her around 11:15 p.m. Tuesday, the last time she was seen alive.

Meanwhile, a man suspected of stabbing a 15-year-old girl in Milan, about 10 miles south of Ann Arbor, was under questioning for a possible link between the slayings.

Briefly Told

The opening of the municipal beach will be delayed due to the recent cold weather.

The Eagles Club will meet next Tuesday at 8 p. m. The meeting was changed from Sunday, because of Father's Day.

A traffic court summons has been issued by Escanaba police to Henry C. Vandress, Gladstone Rte. 1, for failing to yield the right of way.

Traffic citations were issued by State Police Thursday to Daniel Davis, 26, L'Anse, no operator's license; Joseph Karl, 18, Rte. 1, Escanaba, improper parking; Terrence Green, 17, Rte. 1, Rapid River, improper parking; and Laurence Tate, Wausau, Wis., speeding.

Dr. Mary Cretens will conduct a clinic for pre-school and Headstart physicals for the Nahma, Garden area June 16 at the Garden Townhall. Persons who have not received an appointment or have questions concerning their appointments are to contact Mrs. John Plante, 644-2748.

The collision of two cars at 1st Ave. S. and 15th St. caused minor personal injuries to the drivers, it is reported by city police. Pearl M. Mathieson, Gladstone Rte. 1, received a traffic court summons for failing to yield the right of way. The other driver was John M. Criel, 2112 24th Ave. S. The accident occurred at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Hickel To Thaw For Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen who approved Walter J. Hickel's confirmation as Interior secretary after he promised to "freeze" the status of federal land in Alaska will soon be asked for enough of a thaw to permit an 800-mile oil pipeline across the state.

The Interior Department says it intends to grant a right-of-way permit for the pipeline to three oil companies once the interior committees of the Senate and the House agree.

Harrison Loesch, assistant secretary for public land management, said in an interview: "It's policy that the permit will be granted when all the conditions are met."

A condition not yet met is the committee's approval, a provision set down in January when the Senate confirmed the controversial appointment of Hickel, then governor of Alaska, as secretary of the interior.

Hickel promised Senate Interior Committee Chairman Henry Jackson, D-Wash., that he would continue a "freeze" for two years on the status of the federal lands, which make up 90 per cent of Alaska, to allow time for a settlement of native land claims.

Jackson said then a right-of-way would come under Hickel's "freeze" pledge, but exceptions would be allowed for important public purposes.

Loesch said Interior officials believe a pipeline route would qualify as an exception to the land freeze.

Grand Jury Probe Of Underworld Approved

PONTIAC (AP) — A one-man grand jury probe into charges of bribery, murder and other crimes with underworld connections was approved by Oakland County circuit judges Thursday at the request of Attorney General Frank Kelley and State Police Director Col. Frederick E. Davids.

The probe will begin as soon as the judges pick a grand jury from among themselves, which Kelley said he believes will be done shortly.

This grand jury investigation will not be affected by a bill now before the Senate which would replace the one-man grand jury by an expanded citizens grand jury system.

Under the House-approved bill, "proceedings pending" at passage of the bill would continue under the present grand jury provisions of the criminal code.

Kelley's petition for the grand jury listed 14 types of crimes, including murder, bribery, attempted bribery, solicitation of bribes, perjury, extortion, embezzlement, assault and conspiracy.

The petition is based on statements made by informant Peter Lazarosof Troy, a onetime convict turned informer on the Mafia. Lazaros and others reportedly have information on the crimes, but they are unwilling to give evidence except under a grand jury system.

A grand jury is empowered to subpoena individuals to testify under oath, grant immunity from prosecution and cite them for contempt for refusing to testify.

Kelley said he turned to the grand jury system because "conventional law enforcement methods can take us no further" in the investigation.

The petition for the grand jury also implied that the grand jury might find evidence to clear former Oakland County prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson of public charges made against him by Lazaros. Bronson was not named specifically.

A grand jury investigation was first requested by two Oakland County residents several months ago when they accused Bronson of taking "payoffs in return for favors granted members of organized crime." Bronson is now a member of the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Republican State Sens. Robert Huber and George Kuhn took up the campaign for an investigation then, and they repeatedly charged Kelley with deliberate foot dragging because Bronson is a fellow Democrat.

However, Gov. William Milliken went to Kelley's defense when the two senators introduced a resolution into the Senate calling for an investigation of Kelley for his handling of the Lazaros case.

Huber and Kuhn claimed credit for forcing Kelley into calling for the grand jury probe, although Kelley denies they influenced him.

California Bans DDT Pesticides

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)

—California will ban the use of DDT and DDD pesticides in the home and garden after Jan. 1. Also prohibited will be the agricultural use of both in dust form.

Agricultural Director Jerry W. Fielder, announcing this Thursday, called the pesticides "a hazard to man's natural environment."

The exact number of household bug killers containing DDT, DDD or combinations or compounds is not known "but it's considerable—quite a few do," he said.

The use of such pesticides in houses and home gardens "probably isn't the major contributor" to some air and water pollution, "but it's a sizeable one," he added.

Pesticide Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — A

Senate commerce subcommittee announced Thursday two days of hearings on the effects of pesticides on sports and commercial fisheries will be held in Michigan.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., the chairman, said in a statement a hearing will be held July 7 in Lansing and another the next day in Muskegon.

He was highly critical of American police methods on the campuses including the use of shotguns and tear gas, but he said:

"The real trouble is that the police are not backed by the judges. The courts are far too ready to listen to defense lawyers and let people out on bail. The sad result is a police force with a very low morale."

"I came back depressed about the future in the States. They must get court support for their police and the police themselves must be less quick to jump to their firearms."

Judges Blamed For Campus Riots

LONDON (AP) — Britain's top cop today blamed American judges for the riots between police and students on U.S. campuses.

Sir Eric St. Johnston, chief inspector of constabulary, has just returned from a U.S. lecture tour to three universities, including the University of California at Berkeley.

He was highly critical of American police methods on the campuses including the use of shotguns and tear gas, but he said:

"The real trouble is that the police are not backed by the judges. The courts are far too ready to listen to defense lawyers and let people out on bail. The sad result is a police force with a very low morale."

"I came back depressed about the future in the States. They must get court support for their police and the police themselves must be less quick to jump to their firearms."

THINK WINTER

Install Gas heat now, don't pay a thing for 6 months (except for the Gas you use).

Switch to natural Gas heat in summer? You bet. Your furnace is off. And so is the winter rush for installation. So when temperatures drop next fall you'll be ready. For all the good things that Gas heat gives.

You pay nothing for equipment or installation for 6 months. Then you start payments on your Gas bill, spreading them over 36 months if you like. We'll even remove and refund the purchase price of any oil or coal that you have on hand. And haul away your old oil tank without charge.

Gas heat's nice to have around. It can cut your present heating bills up to one-third. It's clean. Dependable. Installs in an average of about 4 hours. Flexible, too. Gas air conditioning can be easily installed later.

Think winter. Call us or your local heating contractor. You couldn't pick a better time to do it.

Przybylski officiated at the double ring nuptials at 2 p.m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Chouinard of Gladstone Rte. 1 and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Watjen of 615 Brussels St., San Francisco.

Robert DeGrands To Mark Their Silver Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. DeGrand of 2205 6th Ave. S. will repeat their wedding vows of 25 years ago at a 12:30 Mass at St. Anne's Church, tomorrow, June 14. Attendants at their wedding 25 years ago will be present, Charles DeGrand of Escanaba and Sally (DeGrand) Van Remortel of DePere, Wis. Also attending the festivities will be the DeGrand children, Joan DeGrand of East Lansing, a sophomore at Michigan State University and Richard DeGrand and his new bride, Sue Ann, from Ann Arbor. Friends of the couple are invited to an open house to be held at the Escanaba Yacht Club at Ludington Park from 7 to 9 p.m.

Births

LAANINEN — The Rev. and Mrs. Peter Laaninen of Rock are the parents of a daughter, their first child, born at 10:21 a.m. on June 12. The infant weighed 7 pounds and 10 ounces at birth and has been named Lisa Louise. Mrs. Laaninen is the former Jean Ringstrom.

Bethany Film Series Will Begin Monday

The annual summer film series at the Bethany Lutheran Church will begin next Monday, June 16 and continue each morning through Friday, June 20.

Sessions will begin with a worship service in the church sanctuary conducted by Dr. Walfred E. Nelson, pastor. Classes will be held for pre-schoolers through tenth grade.

From 10 until 11 a.m. films and filmstrips will be shown. Included in the primary department will be a series of Bible Stories and Parables From Nature.

The juniors will see movies about Albert Schweitzer, the Story of Jonah, and the Story of the Haunted Church Bell. A recent release about the Lord's Prayer will also be a part of the intermediate program.

The full length movie, Question Seven, will be the main feature for the senior group. This is the story of a boy and his father, each forced to decide his future on his willingness to stand up for what he believes.

The Lutheran Church Women will furnish a treat each morning and children should bring an offering in their summer church school envelopes. Children are encouraged to bring children who do not belong to Bethany.

Teachers this year will be: Dr. Walfred E. Nelson, Don Aronson, Bonnie Peterson, Birgit Olson, and Mrs. Robert Koski.

Church Events

Central United Methodist — Saturday, June 14, 5:30 p.m.

Couples Club will meet at the Jack Williams home in Ford River. Call Mrs. Williams for more information, 786-6121. In case of bad weather the group will meet at the church.

Maid of honor for her sister was Janice Chouinard and bridesmaid was Nancy Meyette, both of Gladstone Rte. 1. Serving as bestman was Roger Helton of Hamilton, Ohio and groomsmen were Bill Creager of Columbus, Ohio.

Seating the wedding guests were Michael Smith of San Bernardino, Calif. and Dennis Chouinard of Gladstone Rte. 1, brother of the bride.

Crepe, Lace

The bride selected for her wedding a floor length white crepe gown fashioned with a lace front panel, lace bell sleeves and a chapel train.

A lace mantilla veil completed her attire and she carried a cascade arrangement of white mums and roses centered with a gardenia.

The bridal aides wore floor length frocks of yellow bonded lace trimmed with yellow taffeta and they carried cascade bouquets of yellow mums.

Mother Of Bride

The mother of the bride wore for her daughter's wedding a peach colored knit sleeveless dress with matching jacket and she was presented a yellow and brown floral corsage. The bridegroom's mother was not present.

The reception for 250 persons was held from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Flat Rock Townhall.

Home In New Mexico

The couple honeymooned enroute to Las Cruces, N.M. where they will make their home. The bride is a graduate of Holy Name High School and she also attended Holy Family College. She is a 1969 graduate of Northern Michigan University and plans to teach.

Mr. Watjen attended San Francisco College and he is presently serving with the U.S. Air Force and attending New Mexico State University, working toward a degree in electrical engineering.

Hair Goods Unlimited Sets Grand Opening

Hair Goods Unlimited, located at 1615 Ludington St., in Escanaba, is having a grand opening Monday, June 16 from 9 a. m., to 9 p. m. The public is invited to attend.

COLONIAL STYLING of the type still seen in many parts of New England is quickly evident on the outside of this two-story house, which nevertheless is completely up-to-date on the inside, including a family room with a fireplace.

Nantucket Flavor 2-Story

By ANDY LANG

This modern-as-tomorrow house has exterior styling reminiscent of Colonial residences on the island of Nantucket.

Recognizing the preference in many regions of the country for traditional architectural lines, architect Herman H. York has placed within such a framework the popular family room, the large slate-floored foyer, the laundry room and the two-car garage. The modest over-all dimensions of 56' by 44' 8" include these features as well as a patio that stretches along the entire rear portion of the basic house. Moreover, the two-story plan permits utilization of the second floor for at least four bedrooms and, if necessary, five.

As one approaches the entrance door, an immediate feature is brought into focus — the large bow window of the living room. Because of the L-shaped design, this attractive window actually is at the side of the house yet faces the entrance, illustrating that an eye-catching asset such as this need not be restricted to a front location.

The entrance foyer, spacious and charming in its own right, gains additional allure because it is slightly below the living and family rooms. The off-foyer powder room serves all areas, formal and informal, and can also be conveniently reached from the garage and service areas.

At the rear of the house and adjacent to the patio is the family room, with two pairs of French doors, beamed ceiling and fireplace. This room can be furnished and decorated in the traditions of Colonial New England and doubtless would become the focal point of the house because of its strategic location, just off the foyer and between the patio and the kitchen.

The kitchen has all work centers in the efficient U-shape. The dining room is separate but partially open to the living room, which has a window seat at the previously mentioned bow window.

Upstairs, there are four bedrooms and a sitting room. The latter can be a fifth bedroom, but if used as part of the owner's bedroom, becomes part of a master suite with two walk-in closets, a private bath and space for a chaise, desk and television set. Because the chimney runs up that side of the house, a small fireplace could be located there if desired.

The two-car garage can be entered under cover and from the service portion of the house. It is large enough to allow its two front doors to be located at the front as shown or toward the side, with the side entrance especially desirable if the property should be a corner plot. Storage space is provided for garden tools and power equipment.

The narrow beveled siding, corner boards, cornice detail, shutters, chimney cap, cupola and main entrance door all have the flavor of the Colonial period. White siding and a dark roof are suggested, with shutters of a color designed to accent the structure.

Patio Cracks

Q.—We have a small concrete patio that is in rather bad condition, with a number of cracks running through it. The cracks are very thin, but I'm afraid that if I patch them, the patching concrete will look new compared with the old surface and will stand out more than ever. In fact, I had this happen with a patch job I did several years ago.

I've called in a contractor to put on a new surface, but he says it will have to be fairly thick and I don't want to change the height of the concrete. He told me about a product which can be put on one-eighth of an inch thick—something which has ceramic particles mixed with epoxy resins. Can you tell me something about this and whether a one-eighth of an inch covering will hold up well?

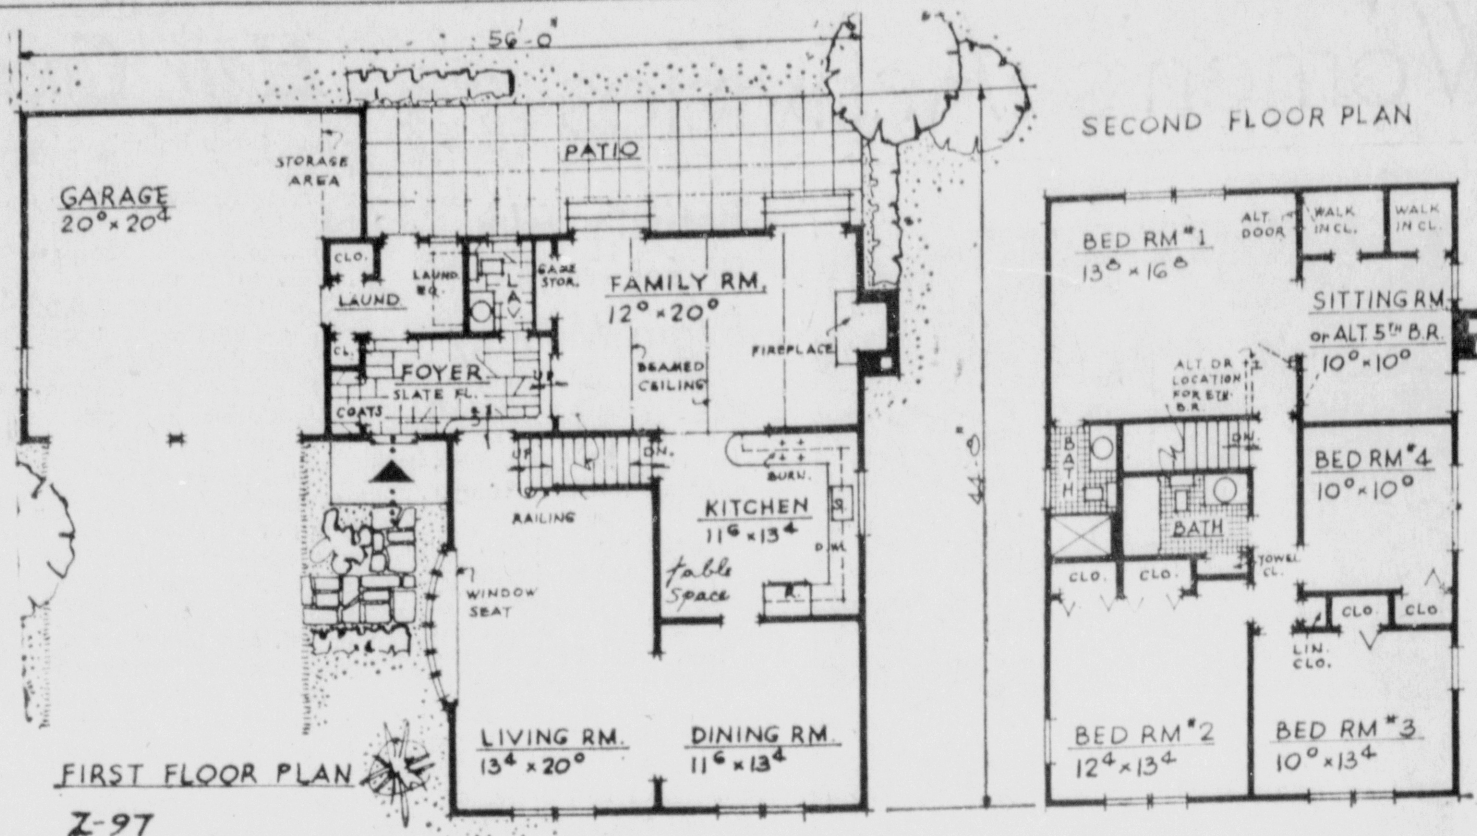

A.—We have seen several terraces covered with this material, which is mixed, poured on and then troweled like regular cement. It seems to be in excellent shape despite heavy usage. In fact, the manufacturer claims it is many times stronger than concrete and is unaffected by extremes of temperature. Also, it comes in several colors. But you'll have to make the decision yourself after weighing costs. If you're handy and have worked with concrete, there's a considerable savings in doing it yourself.

Australia has a net migrant intake of about 80,000 people a year. The organized movement of nearly 2,000,000 Europeans to Australia has been one of the major population shifts in the 20th century.

FLOOR PLANS: Attractive bow window at the side of the living room, rather than in the usual location at the front lends decorative touch to the passageway leading to front foyer. The main bedroom upstairs can be expanded to a master suite if a fifth bedroom is not needed.

Z-97 STATISTICS

Design Z-97, a two-story Colonial, has a living room, dining room, kitchen, family room, foyer, laundry room and lavatory on the first floor, with a total habitable area of 1123 square feet. There are four bedrooms and a sitting room (or five bedrooms) on the second floor, plus two baths, with a living area of 1052 square feet. The over-all dimensions of 56' by 44' 8" include a two-car garage and a patio.

LOTS OF CARS

HONOLULU (AP)—New car sales in Hawaii last year jumped more than 20 per cent above the 1967 figure. And foreign car sales in the Islands went up by closer to 40 per cent.

In all, 29,044 new cars were registered here in 1968, compared with about 25,000 in 1967. Foreign car registrations totaled just over 9,000, compared with about 6,000 the year before.

Use Decorating Scheme In Planting Flowers

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Here's a way to make your spirits soar in spring: plan a garden-in.

The project begins on paper, goes to seed flats or plants and ends in a burst of glory.

You will get more mileage out of a garden color-decorated to flatter a sunroom or patio color scheme or one planned for special occasions than you will by putting the same familiar plants into the ground.

For example, you can plan a special garden for a summer wedding reception or a July fourth picnic or a children's party.

If the garden is already loaded with a variety of perennials, you'll have a problem in achieving such a goal. But you may decide to add another flower bed for a big occasion.

Here's how:

The bridal garden. Make a list of white blooming trees or bushes on your grounds. First, the early bloomers—dogwood, bridal wreath (spirea), small or large-flower shrubs, honeysuckle, mock orange and later blooming shrubs, weigela, rhododendron and rose of Sharon (white). List the blooming time in your area. (Oh, to be a Southern bride when pinky white magnolia is in bloom!)

All-white garden flowers include tulips, hyacinth, white carpet pink, lily of the valley, crocus, sweet William, narcissus, iris, peony, baby's breath, sweet pea, lilies, daisies, lupine. There's quite a selection.

It doesn't take long to get a fabulous display of petunias and they're very prolific.

When you have your list, you can spot the plants that will cooperate for the wedding reception. And make a list of those that should be planted. If you don't have a green thumb, don't fret. You can order bushes and plants to be delivered before the wedding. Plant them with or without pots. You'll find that your blooming garden will be a conversation piece whether the plants are home grown or straight from florist or greenhouse.

A late summer bride may rely on chrysanthemums, asters, nicotiana. Petunias may last if their growth is encouraged and there isn't an early frost.

If you get stuck with a few white flowers in the fall, add the bridal party colors to the garden. What color is the maid of honor wearing? The bridesmaids?

Children's summer party.

Design a pink flower garden with mountain pink or rock cress ground cover, sweet William, coral bells, pink phlox, tall peonies and iris. Later, gladioli and dahlias may be included in that perennial list. But don't forget petunias, zinnias, snapdragons, wax begonia. There is a lovely pink dwarf zinnia that is an ideal border flower for a children's party theme. They can pick the hardy plant flowers without hurting it. Pink and white weigela is a lovely bush and might be a great addition to the pink plan if the party coincides with its blooming period.

Fourth of July picnic.

Design a red, white and blue garden. Tall red flowers may include salvia, geraniums or darker snapdragons or zinnias. Border flowers of dwarf ageratum alternated with white alyssum makes a pretty display. The well-tended salvia will produce beautiful greenery in the background. Or, you might prefer white snapdragons and blue iris in the background with a border of comanche red and white petunias. Daisies and baby's breath are other good choices for background plants.

Party of the year. This is the smashing outdoor party that many people plan for the summer. The garden color scheme can harmonize with sunroom colors or those used on the patio. If you have French doors or sliding doors leading out to your garden, the outdoors really becomes part of the room off the garden. The "in" color is lime for summer, but you may be decorating with the popular vivid pink or yellow or orange or white.

If you've used the cucumber-cool look of lime and white, you might use white flowers outside with a muted rosy-red accent, one of the varieties of bleeding heart interspersed with a feathery plant such as baby's breath. Lots of green foliage will provide a pretty background.

A patio color scheme of pastels in umbrella, furniture, chair cushions will lend itself more decoratively to a profuse display of pastel flowers rather than strong reds or blues. There is no more delightful garden than the mixture border beginning with tulips and daffodils and through a summer of delicate colored plant preferences.

Removing Wax

Q. — We have resilient floor tile on the kitchen floor. It's solid vinyl. There is a slight discoloration to it lately, which my wife thinks may be due to too many coats of wax. Should the wax be taken off each time before the next coat is put on? And can we use our electric floor scrubber for taking off the old wax?

A. — Your wife's analysis probably is correct, as a major buildup of wax is inclined to produce a slightly yellowish cast. However, taking off the old wax should be done only two or three times a year — not before every new application. Cleaning the floor with a diluted detergent solution is another matter. Doing this regularly will keep the surface soil from being ground into the wax.

As for the removal of the wax, you can buy a commercial product for this operation. It will soften the wax in about five minutes, after which the floor should be scrubbed with a stiff brush or your power machine. Do not make the mistake of using steel wool pads in the electric scrubber or you may wind up with a lot of scratches in the vinyl.

After the scrubbing, go over the floor with a sponge mop or cloth. Then rinse the floor thoroughly with cold water. Be sure the floor is thoroughly dry before applying new wax.

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Mary Fischer, a University of Colorado student from Manitou, Minn., got a job here as a gasoline station attendant to help pay for her college expenses. She soon was made manager of the station.

He and his wife, Lillian and sons, Tom and Craig have settled in Litchfield Park, Ariz. He plans to teach Math and Science after a briefing at Grand Canyon College, Ariz.

Slow Drain

QUESTION: Our plumbing system is sluggish. All my efforts to correct it with a plunger, drain cleaner and auger have accomplished nothing. It has been suggested that I open the cleanout plug in the basement and run the auger down into the soil pipe. Will this work?

ANSWER: There is no certain way to know whether the suggested method will work, but you would be foolish to take off the cleanout plug if you know nothing about it. You could easily wind up with a flooded basement and an unsanitary condition. You need a plumber if the stoppage is in the soil pipe. Also, if you have a cesspool or septic tank, the trouble may originate there and require a more complete treatment than running an auger into the soil pipe.

Build Yourself A Spare Dining Table

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A simple but useful dining table can be built from a few pieces of lumber and four lengths of ordinary steel pipe.

You can make the table as wide and as long as you want, depending on where it is to be placed and the number of persons you expect to serve on most occasions. And you can use any kind of wood you want, depending on whether it is to be painted or given a clear finish and whether it is to be displayed as is or whether the top will be continuously hidden with a tablecloth or other covering.

If you decide on a hardwood top, remember that it is more difficult to cut and work with than softwood. But this need not deter you if it's hardwood you want, since you can get the wood cut to the exact size at a lumberyard.

The top is made by gluing together the edges of six pieces of 2" lumber, each 8' long and 8" wide. Allowing for the fact that the natural width of the lumber is slightly less than the nominal dimensions, this will give you a top about 96" long and 45" wide, a most sizable dining table indeed. It can, of course, be made as narrow or as short as desired.

Purchase four pieces of 3/4" pipe, each threaded on one end, from a hardware store, lumber dealer or plumbing supply house. At the same time, buy four pipe flanges of the proper size. The pipe legs go into these flanges after they and the top have been finished as desired.

(You can get Andy Lang's booklet, "Wood Finishing in the Home," by sending 25 cents and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope to: Know-How, P.O. Box 477, Huntington, N.Y. 11743.)

One of the transparent finishing materials or paint can be applied to the top after a thorough sanding of the upper surface, edges and ends. If the legs are to be painted, use a rust inhibitor as an under-coat or use one of the special paints which contain a rust preventative. For a clear finish, a metal lacquer is suggested following a vigorous polishing of the pipe with steel wool or an abrasive cloth.

There are a number of variations to the procedure for the construction of this table. But the one described is the easiest for the amateur. One alternative you might want to consider, providing you purchase the pipe legs and flanges from a plumber or someone with the proper plumbing tools, is to have the legs permanently attached to the flanges. This will insure connections that will not come loose no matter how often or how roughly the table is handled. A slight disadvantage is that the legs cannot be removed easily if you have need to do so.

Where there is any possibility that the bottoms of the pipe legs might damage flooring materials, use special leg attachments or floor guards.

Hole In Plywood

Q. — I have a sabre saw and have been told that it is possible to make an opening in a piece of plywood without drilling any holes, but I cannot figure out how this can be done. Have I received the correct information and, if so, how is it done?

A. — Yes, it can be done, but since it requires a little practice to do it properly, try it three or four times on scrap wood before you tackle a regular project. First, be sure the electric switch on the saw is turned on. Then rest the saw on the wood at an angle so that it is supported by the base without the blade touching the work.

Turn on the switch and slowly lower the blade into the wood. Hold the saw firmly, as there will be quite a bit of vibration when the blade moves into the wood. Once the cut has been made, the rest is merely a matter of cutting the shape of opening desired.

Taylor Uncomfortable With Prized Stardom

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some romantic figures of Hollywood's Golden Era wore their stardom like a talisman. Robert Taylor was never comfortable with his, Tyrone Power played the dashing figure both on and off the screen. Errol Flynn's rakish personality was indistinguishable from his film roles. Even Clark Gable, although he snorted at being termed the King, maintained an almost regal bearing in public.

Bob Taylor was different. Perhaps the most handsome of all leading men in the 1930s and 1940s, he seemed ill at ease in his role as movie star. He never acquired that veneer of sophistication of other small-town boys who achieved stardom.

Taylor was buried Tuesday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. He died Sunday at 57; like Dick Powell, Walt Disney and some other Hollywood cigarette smokers, he was a victim of lung cancer.

Skinny As Rail

He was almost a star in spite of himself. He never pouted on the studio gates; his discovery came by accident in a college play. Almost immediately he was thrust into co-starring roles with MGM's most glamorous stars—Greta Garbo, Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer.

Returning to MGM to play an aging firefighter three years ago, he recalled his beginning years at the studio.

"I was skinny as a rail back in my early days here," he remarked. "I think I weighed 150 pounds when I made 'Camille.' I had to sweep Garbo into my arms and carry her and I almost didn't make it. Those petticoats she was wearing must have weighed 50 pounds."

During those early years, Taylor was embarrassed by frequent references to his male beauty.

"The publicity wasn't good," he remarked later. "But the pretty-boy tag wore off in the natural course of events, wear and tear, wind and rain. The change came about normally; the studio realized in 1938 or 1939 that something had to be done."

Outdoors Man

The actor was given a buildup as an outdoors man, which he enjoyed anyway. He was also cast in tough roles as the desperado in "Billy the Kid," as a prizefighter in "The Crowd Roars," and as a gangster in "Johnny Eager."

Just before the war, he did the picture he considered his best, "Waterloo Bridge" with Vivian Leigh. He once com-

'Soul Bowl' Is Canceled

DETROIT (AP) — The Rev. C. L. Franklin, pastor of Detroit's New Bethel Baptist Church and father of singer Aretha Franklin, said Thursday he has canceled his Soul Bowl, in Dallas this weekend.

The Soul Bowl was to be a fund-raising show featuring leading soul performers, such as Ray Charles and Miss Franklin.

An aide of Franklin's met Thursday with officials of the Dallas Market Hall, site of the Soul Bowl, to cancel the reservations.

Franklin's aide, the Rev. Herman Brown, said, "Some of the artists were not properly contracted and therefore might not have appeared. I do not want to produce anything that is not exactly as advertised."

However, Franklin said the show was canceled because of a demand by Dallas Market Hall officials that the performance bond be increased from $10,000 to $50,000, not because the performers would not be there.

He said Brown knew nothing about the contracts, which he himself had prepared. He said he had telegrams of confirmation from the performers billed for the show.

However, many of the performers have denied any commitment to appear at the show.

Rich, Super-Rich Fight Over Bog

BLOOMFIELD HILLS (AP) — An eight-acre swamp is the bone of contention in a fight between the rich and the super-rich in suburban Bloomfield Township.

Residents in Bennington Greens, a subdivision of 60,000 to 125,000 homes, say the swamp is rising and is steadily infringing on their homes. They say the stagnant waters give off a foul odor, are infested with insects and reptiles and represent a hazard to their small children. They want the swamp drained.

But a group of even more affluent homeowners in three other subdivisions opposes drainage because it fears draining the swamp might foul the waters of the lakes fronting their property.

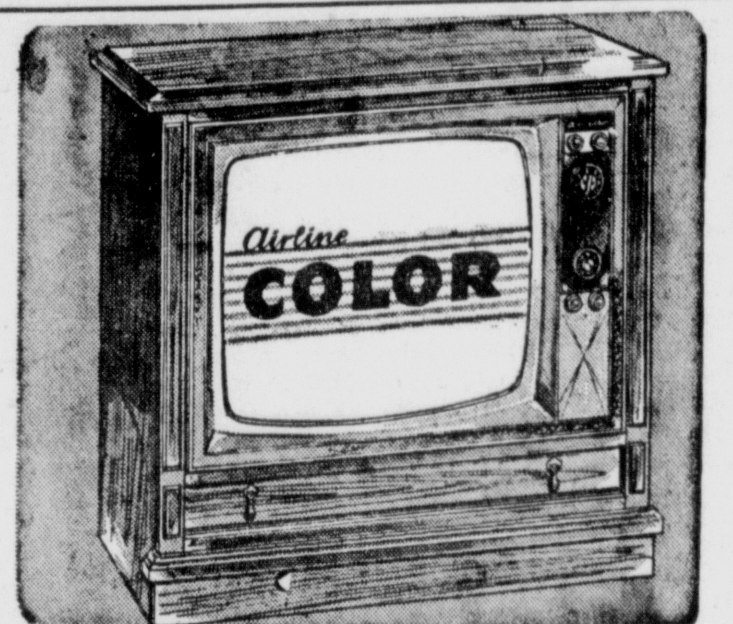

Members of the three property owner's associations have obtained a temporary restraining order barring drainage. The swamp, which ranges in depth from eight to 16 feet, is on land owned by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit and John Cardinal Dearden.

James R. Nichols, chief deputy Oakland County drain commissioner, denied that drainage plans would have caused any fouling of the lakes.

"None of it would have gone into the storm sewers or Island Lake," he said.

Members of the homeowners group fighting drainage include Edward N. Cole, General Motors president; Lynn Townsend, Chrysler Corp. board chairman; William C. Newberg, former Chrysler president; Ernest R. Breech, former Ford Motor Co. president; and Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, widow of a former GM president and secretary of defense.

Ike Brown Belts Tigers

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Ike Brown wasn't quite good enough to make the Detroit Tigers team this spring.

Thursday night he was good enough to be the key man as the Toledo Mud Hens, top Tiger farm, clipped their parents 5-4.

Brown clubbed a homer and two singles to drive in three runs off Detroit pitchers Fred Lasher and Mike Kilkenny. Kilkenny was a Mud Hen hero in 1968 when Toledo won the International League title.

Detroit Manager Mayo Smith managed to get all his regulars into the game—some a little longer than he had wanted.

Regular catcher Bill Freehan caught the entire game because No. 2 man Jim Price twisted his ankle in the dugout before the game and outfielder Willie Horton also went all the way because backup man Gates Brown was left behind in Detroit with a severe respiratory ailment.

Horton was the only Tiger who hit well, belting out a single, double and homer to key the seven-hit Tiger attack.

The Bengals picked up their first two runs in the fourth inning on Dave Campbell's single, Horton's double and a single by Freehan.

They added another in the fifth on a walk, a stolen base, a throwing error and a sacrifice fly by Jim Northrup. Horton's sixth-inning homer closed out Detroit scoring.

Ike Brown's two run single was the key blow for Toledo as the Mud Hens, currently running second to Louisville in the International League, rallied for three runs in the eighth to take the game.

The Detroiters, currently running third in the American League's East Division 8½ games behind the Baltimore Orioles, open a seven game road trip tonight against the Royals at Kansas City.

On the hill for the Bengals will be Mickey Lolich (6-1), while the expansionist Royals go with Dick Drago (3-4).

Murphy Leads, Nicklaus Falters

HOUSTON (AP) — Roly-poly Bob Murphy held the lead going into today's second round of the U.S. Open Golf Championship because there's a big blond mystery man walking around in Jack Nicklaus' spikes.

"I was driving the ball exceptionally well," Nicklaus said. "I didn't miss a fairway—something I've never done before in the U.S. Open. From where I drove the ball, Jack Nicklaus could have shot a 65. But I haven't seen that character around for a while."

The slump-ridden Nicklaus, who said "my irons deserted me" finished with a 74, four over par for the 6,967-yard Cypress Creek layout at Champions Golf Club.

Could Miss Cut

That put him in a tie with a couple of pretourney choices, defending champion Lee Trevino and Billy Casper, well back in the pack and in some danger of missing the cut when the field of 150 is trimmed today to the low 60 finishers and ties for the final two rounds.

And since Nicklaus himself said Nicklaus wasn't there, and the 65 didn't materialize, the sparkling 66 posted by Murphy, a 214-pound Florida redhead, topped the field.

Tour regular Miller Barber, a balding paunchy guy from Sherman, Tex., was alone in second at 67, with stringbean Al Geiberger, who said he was competing against doctors orders, and former Amateur champion Deane Beman locked at 68.

Masters Champion George Archer, Tom Weiskopf and stubby Dean Refram each had 69s.

Palmer Has 70

Arnold Palmer, the aging, troubled charger who had to qualify for this event, for the first time in a decade, remained in contention after a par 70, Sam Snead, 57, and still chasing this big one, Gary Player and Julius Boros were in a group at 71, with Frank Beard and Gene Littler at 72.

"My shots just went from bad to miserable," said Nicklaus, a two-time winner. "I shot the backside in 41 from the middle of the fairway." He shook his head. "I just don't know. I was in the water, in the woods, in the bushes. Then I get on and I three-putt."

Murphy, 26, a former amateur champion and 1968 PGA Rookie of the Year, credited hard work with the driver and adjustment to his new daughter, Kimberly, for the improvement in his game.

"I'm usually a pretty good driver," he said. "Not long, but straight. But in the last five or six weeks I hadn't been driving well at all. I guess I hadn't been driving since the National Airlines (in March).

Work Pays Off

"But sometimes some hard work pays off. I must have hit 1,000 drives in practice the last few weeks. That's all you can do, just go out and swing."

And about the daughter, a six-month-old?

"She came on the tour with me when she was just a few weeks old," Murphy said. "My wife, Gail, was used to the noises she makes at night, all those snorts and snuffles and she'd sleep right through it. But I couldn't."

"I wasn't getting but about three hours sleep at night. Now I'm getting used to it."

Murphy missed only two fairways and two greens, picked off five birds and had a single bogey, on the fifth when he put his second shot in a trap. He chipped in from a trap for a birdie on the second hole, a shot he said "made the round for

Phils Do 'Nothing' To Dodgers

By The Associated Press

After nine straight defeats, the Philadelphia Phillies needed something...and it turned out to be nothing.

That's exactly what Philly pitchers have given the Los Angeles Dodgers the last two nights—nothing. The results have been a modest, but welcome two-game winning streak.

Rookie Billy Champion broke the losing string Wednesday night with a five-hit shutout and Grant Jackson made it two in a row Thursday night by scattering seven hits as the Phillies nipped the Dodgers and hard-luck Bill Singer 1-0.

Philadelphia pitchers had only three shutouts—one by Jackson—all year entering this series, but they came to the right place. The Dodgers now have been blanked nine times and Singer has had only five runs scored for him in his six defeats.

It was the only shutout of the night on a limited schedule as Montreal beat San Diego 4-1, Cincinnati downed St. Louis 4-3 in 10 innings, Pittsburgh slipped by Houston 4-3 and the Chicago Cubs outlasted Atlanta 12-6 in the National League. Washington defeated Oakland 4-1 in the only American League game.

Jackson, ae-6, who has allowed only four runs in his five complete-game victories, avenged a 7-6 loss to Singer two weeks ago. Johnny Briggs gave him a game-opening homer, his first of the season, on Singer's second pitch and Jackson made it last.

While the Dodgers were being whitewashed for the second night in a row, one of their former big hitters was helping Montreal win its third game in four starts after a 20-game losing spin. Ron Fairly, acquired Wednesday from the Dodgers for Maury Wills, singled in the tie-breaking run in the ninth inning.

Gary Sutherland opened the ninth with a double off loser Tommie Sisk, 0-4, and Fairly, pinch hitting in his first appearance for the Expos, laced a pitch by reliever Billy McCool for a 2-1 lead. Mack Jones tripled another run home and scored on a ground out.

Lee May, who hit his 16th homer earlier, slammed a game-winning single with the bases loaded and one out in the 10th inning for Cincinnati.

Pinch-hitter Carl Taylor rapped a two-out, tie-breaking single for Pittsburgh in the ninth inning after reliever Fred Gladding hit Manny Sanguillen with a pitch and Sanguillen reached third on a sacrifice and ground out.

Al Spangler hit his third and fourth homers, each with a man on, and Ernie Banks doubled in his 51st and 52nd runs as the Cubs built a 7-0 lead behind

Dick Selma's one-hit pitching for seven innings.

Hank Aaron ruined Selma, 6-3, with a three-run homer, his 17th, in the eighth, but Ron Santo highlighted a five-run Chicago ninth with a two-run homer.

NCAA Baseball Tourney Opens

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Texas, seeking to redeem itself for what the Longhorns consider a poor showing in 1968, and Arizona State, gunning to return to the throne room it has occupied in 1967, open the NCAA baseball College World Series Friday evening.

The Longhorns and Sun Devils, neither strangers to Rosenblatt Stadium where this showcase of collegiate baseball has been held for 20 years, collide at 6:30 p.m. EDT.

UCLA and Tulsa then take the field to complete the opening-night program.

The other two first-round games will be played Saturday night when Southern Illinois University takes on Massachusetts and New York University meets Mississippi.

The losers of Friday night's games will meet Saturday afternoon to determine the first team eliminated from contention.

Report Russell To Quit Celtics

BOSTON (AP)—Bill Russell is quitting basketball in favor of a Hollywood career according to a Boston paper, but his old mentor Red Auerbach says as far as he knows there's been no definite decision yet.

Russell, one of pro basketball's all-time greats, was reported resigning his job as player-coach of the National Basketball Association champion Boston Celtics.

The copyrighted story was written by Sports Editor Cliff Sundberg for this morning's editions of the Boston Herald Traveler.

The story said the 6-foot-9 center, who has sparked the Celtics to 11 NBA championships in 13 years, was giving up his estimated $150,000-a-year post to pursue movie and television work plus other ventures on the West Coast.

The paper said the 35-year-old Russell informed Auerbach of his decision Monday night and then confided to friends Wednesday that he had to make the move "in order to find new sources of income for the future."

It said Russell is currently in Hollywood and staying at the apartment of former Cleveland

Browns fullback Jimmy Brown, another great athlete who made the jump to a film and television career.

It added that immediate plans call for Russell to make two movies, including one with Brown, who is a close friend.

Auerbach, however, said early today in Boston that he hadn't been informed of any such definite decision.

Summer is still quite illusive.

We have been having cool

nights and mild to cool days with changing winds. The lilacs are in bloom but only half-heartedly. Apple trees are in full bloom. Dandelions are on the wane. Grass and other vegetation is a lush green.

Inland lake levels are very high but streams are receding back to normal. Water temperatures on lakes are still in the low 60's.

Mosquitoes are at their blood

sucking best at present so outdoor enthusiasts are advised to carry a good supply of retardant.

Fishing is considered good

throughout the district, especially on inland lakes and streams.

Walleye - Alger County - A

George and Brimley Back Bay.

Luce County - Muskallonge,

Round and Manistique lakes.

Mackinac County - Milakokia

Lake.

Lake Trout - A few fish taken by trolling in Whitefish

Bay, Chippewa County; Two

Hearted River, Luce County.

Menominee - Fair catches

being made in the Two Hearted River and in Lake Superior

at the mouth of the Two Hearted and Little Two Hearted rivers.

Lake Trout - Fair catches

being made in Pendills Bay in 60 to 160 feet depths using the

Piggy-back rig with fresh smelt. A 7 pound fish was taken by trolling off the mouth of Pendills Creek.

Some lake trout are being taken by trolling in West Bay,

Grand Marais and in Lake Su-

Linda Ann LaVigne Marries John Thill

Linda Ann LaVigne and John Martin Thill exchanged their marriage vows in a 2:30 p.m. ceremony in St. Ann's Church, Isabella, on June 7. Rev. Father Ephraim Sitko officiated at the double-ring service.

The bride's parents are Mrs. Francis LaVigne and the late Mr. LaVigne, Fayette. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Thill of Fayette are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride wore a white nylon organza-lined acetate gown with long tapered sleeves and an A-line skirt. A detachable train and nylon lace with seed pearl veil completed her ensemble. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses.

Mrs. Barry Rochefort, sister of the bride, of Garden, was matron of honor; Mrs. Brent Rochefort, cousin of the bride, of Garden; Mrs. Walter Garvin of Garden; and Mrs. Dale Greene, Clawson, also attended the bride.

Hawkins Denies Jump To NBA

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A report that Connie Hawkins was headed for the Phoenix Suns of the National Basketball Association triggered a flurry of denials Thursday, with the American Basketball Association star the prime doubter.

"There's no truth to it," said the 6-foot-8 star forward and center at his Pittsburgh home.

"It's the first I've heard the story," he added. "Just say I deny it."

The report that Hawkins, who has filed a $6 million suit against the NBA charging it banned him for life, would move to the Suns originated Thursday morning with radio station WNEW in New York.

Chip Cipolla, the station's sports director, said he had learned Phoenix won a coin flip with the NBA's Seattle team for the rights to negotiate with the 23-year-old star of the Minnesota Pipers.

Hawkins played out his option with Minnesota and has not signed a new contract.

Wisconsin Fails In Rowing Meet, Gets 2nd Chance

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Penn and Washington are in. No surprise. Dartmouth's in, too. But Wisconsin isn't—at least not yet.

Penn, Washington and Dartmouth earned berths in the varsity, eight-oared championships of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association Regatta Thursday. They stroked to victories in qualifying heats over the 2,000-meter, or 1 mile, Olympic-length sprint course on Onondaga Lake.

The losers, including highly rated Wisconsin, row today in the repechage or second-chance heats, and the winners will land the final three berths in Saturday's championship race.

U.S. Hopes Rest With Graebner

BRISTOL, England (AP) — United States' hopes hinge on Clark Graebner's big serve in today's semifinals of the West of England Open Tennis Championships, one of the last big warmups on the grass for Wimbledon.

Graebner, the Davis Cup star from New York, met Pierre Barthes of France and Australians Ken Rosewall and Roy Emerson were matched in the round of four.

Graebner advanced by beating South Africa's Cliff Drysdale 6-1, 6-4 in Thursday's quarter-final. Drysdale had upset Australian Rod Laver, the world's No. 1 player on Wednesday, but he had no answer to Graebner's booming service.

The All-England championships at Wimbledon begin June 23.

The other American quarter-finalist, Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., was eliminated by the 34-year-old Rosewall, who showed he could still move speedily about the court.

Destroyer Turned Into Melbourne Says Captain

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — The commander of the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne testified today that the collision between his ship and the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans might have been avoided but the Evans turned into the Melbourne after the carrier changed course.

Capt. J. P. Stevenson said that if the Evans had stayed on a steady course, the Melbourne might have only brushed her.

Stevenson, 47, told the joint U.S.-Australian board investigating the disaster he was watching the Evans, from his bridge before dawn on June 3 and saw her come to a collision course.

Stevenson said, then dispatched a warning to the Evans that they were on a collision course.

The captain said he observed no change in the Evans' course as it neared to about 2,500 yards — "Things happened very quickly."

He said the ships continued on the crash course and the chances of a safe passing seemed "very faint. No chance in the world." He said the destroyer's lights were not on, and "the only chance" was the carrier to swing one way or the other.

Stevenson said he decided to turn left, to port, and ordered 30 degrees left rudder, which he considered as good as full rudder. He said he sounded two short blasts—the signal for a left turn — and sent a message to the Evans he was turning hard left.

Stevenson said he took his binoculars off the Evans for the first time then received a signal that the Evans was turning right.

Spun Right
"If Evans had stayed on a steady course my aerials might have clipped her," he testified. But he said the Evans spun very

June Car Sales Show Increase

DETROIT (AP) — The four major U.S. automakers sold 10.4 per cent more cars in the nation during the first ten days in June than in the same period in 1968.

The auto firms sold 225,638 cars in the June 1-10 period for a daily selling rate of 28,132. During the same period last year, 201,565 cars were purchased at a daily selling rate of 25,195. There were eight selling days both years.

Ford Motor Co. had the largest percentage increase, 37 per cent. It sold 60,993 cars in the first part of June this year compared with 44,659 last year.

General Motors Corp. reported a 7.5 per cent increase as it sold 124,397 new cars in early June compared with 115,666 in the same 1968 period.

Reporting a 1.7 per cent increase, American Motors Corp. said it sold 6,403 cars this year compared to 6,297 in early June last year.

Chrysler Corp., however, had a five per cent reduction in sales. It sold 33,265 cars this year, compared with 34,943 in early June last year.

Industry sales for the year to date were 3,803,444, compared with 3,760,136 for this time last year.

quickly right and his ship rammed the destroyer.

Immediately after the impact, the Melbourne's engines were reversed and put full astern, the captain said.

He said the Evans had been cut in two, he could not see the bow and the aft section swung down his starboard side. The Melbourne, which had been running blacked out, turn its lights to "full brilliance" just before the collision, he said.

Earlier in his testimony, Stevenson said he had cautioned the destroyer commanders before the fleet sailed from Manila into the South China Sea "to keep well clear of the carrier" when maneuvering around his ship.

Detroit Teachers, Board Settle

DETROIT (AP)—Negotiators for the Detroit Federation of Teachers (DFT) and the Detroit Board of Education reached agreement late Thursday night on a new two-year contract for the city's 11,983 teachers.

A membership meeting was called by the DFT for 1 p.m. today to vote on the proposed agreement. The union's executive committee will ask for approval.

Salary, class size and fringe benefits were reportedly the major issues in contract negotiations.

One key issue was the maximum set at the average of the five highest pay rates in the metropolitan area. The school board was reportedly willing to pay only the average of all districts in the area.

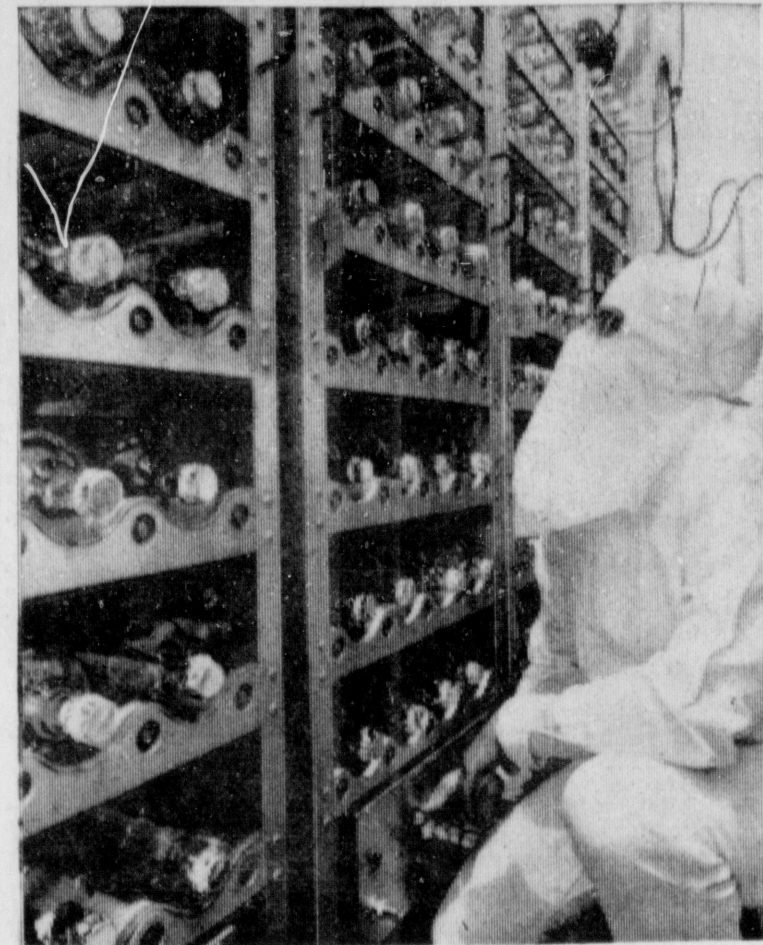

Detroit currently has the highest starting salary for teachers with masters degrees, $7,500, but its $11,900 maximum is far below the $12,780-$13,210 range that the top five school districts pay.

Briefly Told

The Veterans of World War I and Auxiliary, Barracks 1128, will hold a regular meeting at the VFW Hall at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 17. There will be a social hour after the meeting.

The annual Copper Country picnic will be held June 15 at Pioneer Trial Park beginning at 12 noon. There will be games for the children and pasties and refreshments will be available.

Massive Program Attacks Measles

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken Thursday announced plans for a massive, $1.5 million attack on German measles, a disease that can result in death or deformed babies.

"This program will put Michigan ahead of all other states and the federal government is mounting the attack on this maiming disease," Milliken said.

The governor's announcement followed speedy legislative approval of a resolution authorizing transfer of some $174,000 in public health funds for immediate purchase of a supply of Rubella or German measles vaccine.

The federal government last week announced that the newly developed vaccine was licensed and available for the first time. "The knowledge that blindness, deafness, heart defects and mental retardation can be diminished through this program is certainly cause for action," Milliken said.

Effect On Babies
He noted that although the disease is "relatively mild in childhood," it has more drastic effects on babies when contracted by pregnant women.

The funds will purchase hundreds of thousands of doses of Rubella vaccine for distribution

Open Letter to the Citizens of Delta County:

We are taking this opportunity to more fully inform the citizens of Delta County of our objective—to preserve the rights of the individual to a clean environment. We affirm the right of the individual to enjoy the benefits of clean air, clean water, and clean land, and to avoid any conditions injurious to health, property, or the enjoyment of life.

In view of the fact that it is easier to correct a situation before it becomes a problem, the proposed kraft sulphate mill is of primary interest. The likelihood of foul smell from this process is a threat to the entire community for the following reasons:

1. Loss of the pleasure of good, clean, fresh air, especially during outdoor activities.
2. Decrease in home and property values.
3. Loss in tourism.
4. Loss of future industrial growth.
5. Damage to the community's reputation.
6. Disturbance of the balance of nature—our plant and animal life.

We feel that the kraft sulphate mill must be built in a manner to avoid these consequences. To INSURE this, we are seeking a county law that will protect our clean air. In this effort, we invite the support of all interested citizens, government, and local businesses and industries.
